Distribute Seals in Sale to Help Crippled Children

Letters have gone out containing the Easter Seals the Crippled Children's Society of Evanston is selling. Proceeds will go to the fund the society maintains for the rehabilitation through the use of braces, physical, and occupational therapy carried on by the society through its nursery staff.

Mrs. Howard Simmon and her committee have talked to Miss Margaret Blecken at Haven school and after seeing the work done there by and for the crippled children of the north shore, are working hard to make the drive a success. Miss Blecken outlined the day of a crippled child at school.

The child is brought to school in a cab at school time. Regular class work is pursued and at 10:30 o'clock, those children so advised by their physicians are given treatment. Some are given treatment under water in the Hubbard tank. Others receive ultra violet radiation twice a week. At noon lunch is served. A hot dish is provided by the school and children either buy their lunches or bring them, just as each child is able. After lunch there is a one-hour rest period. On Wednesday and Friday afternoons there is basket making and simple metal work. Mrs. Marshall Davies volunteers her time to direct this important part of therapy. After school each child is taken home in a cab. Many brilliant and resourceful minds are thus given a chance to develop normally and healthfully, the society points out.
