HUNTING & FISHING

Now easily accessible, the marvelous lake region of the wilderness of Kee-way-din (the traveling wind of voyageurs and Indians) holds a new thrill for sportsmen and lovers of the deep solitude of the Northland.

Trail's End Lodge, on beautiful Clearwater and Pipestone Lakes, 46 miles northwest of International Falls and Fort Frances in the great Lake of the Woods country, is a focal point for unsurpassed fishing in crystal-clear lakes stretching mile upon mile. Lake trout in May from sparkling cold waters just freed from ice. Muskies ready to give battle. Large- and small-mouth black bass. Walleyes, plentiful and huge. For a real thrill, hook a northern pike on a fly at sunrise on famed Kairarskons.

And in the fall — what hunting! Bear, deer, and an abundance of game birds. Moose, too, in all seasons officially declared open.

Trail's End Lodge, with its real log cabins, its truly excellent food and its fine appointments for comfortable living, is a restful retreat for those who choose with discrimination. Reached by good roads, rail or air. Owned and managed by old North Shore residents.

For rates, reservations and a beautifully illustrated 24-page booklet with detailed map from official air surveys, address

SECRETARY VISITS LAGOONS

Secretary of the Interior Harold L. Ickes who made his first visit to the Skokie Lagoons project Sunday afternoon, said he was much pleased with both the work and the progress being made. He was here from Washington to fill a speaking engagement, in Chicago, Sunday evening.

Secretary Ickes was a guest Sunday, at the home of Mrs. Wilmarth Ickes, 703 Walden road, and in the afternoon accepted an invitation of E. J. Lundin, principal project superintendent of the National Park Service to visit the Skokie Lagoons development. He was expected to make this visit, Friday, the opening day of the observance of the fifth anniversary of the Civilian Conservation Corps, but was unable to be present at that time.

Miss Thelma Bondy, 621 Harvard street, observed her eighteenth birthday last Friday, when she and a few of her friends went to Evanston for a small party.

Local Man Survivor
in Aviation Crash

George J. Nilles, radioman, third class in the United States Navy, and son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph P. Nilles, 724 Park avenue, Wilmette, is thought to be the sole survivor of the naval aviation disaster which took the lives of five officers and enlisted men near the Hawaiian islands Wednesday of last week.

The giant bomber plane crashed, during the annual war games, about 3 miles from shore, and Nilles, who had been in the service for about three years, swam to shore.

He later reported to the authorities at the naval base at Pearl Harbor, and both he, and naval authorities in Washington, reported his safety to his parents.

Four Women Are on Motor Trip in South

A party of four women, Mrs. W. G. Morgan, 925 Forest avenue, Mrs. R. D. Schuettge, 804 Greenwood avenue, Mrs. Philip L. Edwards, 1720 Elmwood avenue, and Mrs. Jessie Seeley of Chicago, are on a motor trip in the south. They left the north shore March 28, and will be away another ten days or two weeks. On their way to Florida they stopped at Lookout Mountain, at St. Augustine, and Jacksonville. They will go on to Miami, and will come home by way of Memphis, Tenn., crossing over into Missouri to visit a farm owned by a member of the party.

ON COLLEGE CRUISE

Miss Betty Ruth Friend, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Milton H. Friend of 806 Linden avenue, was a member of the twelfth annual Gulf Park college Caribbean cruise which sailed from New Orleans March 19, and docked there April 4. During the cruise, which is directed by the president of the college at Gulfport, Miss., school is held on the deck of the chartered boat, thus incorporating travel and education by books in the school curriculum.

AWAY FOR VACATIONS

Miss Betty Jane Rosen, 1045 Elmwood avenue, is not returning to the north shore for her spring vacation from the Sophie Newcomb school in New Orleans, but is to spend her holidays visiting friends in Little Rock, Ark. Miss Lois Rosen, who is attending the Stoneleigh college, Rye Beach, N. H., will visit Miss Ruth Reynolds in Haddonfield, N. J. during her spring vacation.

ON VACATION

The Misses Joan and Janice Guthridge of 917 Greenwood avenue are home this week for a spring vacation. Miss Joan Guthridge came home Monday evening from Denison university, Granville, Ohio, and her sister came home Thursday of last week from Beloit, Wis., where she attends Beloit college.

VISIT SOUTH

Dr. and Mrs. John W. Nuzum, 745 Michigan avenue, have returned from a trip to New Orleans where they were entertained by Dr. and Mrs. Alton Ochsner. Dr. Ochsner is professor of surgery at Tulane university medical school. While there Dr. Nuzum gave a lecture for faculty and students of Tulane.
