Biographical & Historical Information:

Born in Sondershausen, Germany, Adam Ludewig (b.1864 and d.1955) as a child and his family (Robert, Amalie, Marie) immigrated to Detroit in 1867. Several years after his family moved to Alpena he eventually began working for a variety of local businesses at the age of 14. He started working at Lockwood, Luce & Seage Lumber co., then as a clerk at H.H. Wittleshofer Book Store, with the L.A. Tompkins dry goods store, finally he bought Elizabeth Nason's bookstore which was located in the Odd Fellow Block (Centennial Building) (Alpena News, Adam Ludewig Hits 90 Mark, April 1, 1952). Ludewig opened his store on 118 Second Ave around 1899, later moving the store to 105 Water St in 1951.

Scope & Content:

The Adam Ludewig Collection highlights the paper materials of the Adam Ludewig's Bookstore located on 118 N 2d Ave (Polk City Directory 1914 pg.266). Several materials, within the collection, also show his family and employees throughout his time (1900s to 1950s). The collection fits into the archives in that it presents the business' history and materials stored at the book store Ludewig owned for many years. The collection is unique from other collections in that it provides in-depth primary sources of a long standing downtown business in Alpena.
