INTRODUCTION

This issue of Polk's Alpena City and County Directory records another step forward in the history of this prosperous and growing community. It presents an array of important and necessary information, compiled in convenient and logical order, and instantly at the service of the reader.

The publishers take pleasure in presenting to their patrons this volume with the assurance that the high standard established by our past issues has been fully maintained, and that we have spared neither labor nor expense to produce a work as thoroughly correct as is possible for a publication of this kind.

The Directory contains a list of the citizens of Alpena, alphabetically arranged, telling their business, location of business and residence. It gives the style of the firms and the individual partners. It contains a complete Classified Business Directory of all trades, professions and pursuits, making a special trade directory of each business and profession. The earlier pages contain what is technically termed "Miscellaneous Information," embracing the city government, county officers, township officers, state officers, lists of banks, churches with location, name of pastor and hours of service; convents and private schools, hospitals, incorporated companies with location, date of incorporation, capital and officers; miscellaneous societies, the military, newspapers, postoffice data, public buildings and halls, public schools with lists of teachers, railroads, secret and benevolent societies, labor unions, steamboat lines, United States offices, ward boundaries and other useful information.

A special feature of the Directory is the House and Street Directory. It comprises a list of the streets arranged in alphabetical order and described by giving the point of commencement and ending of each street and its line of general direction, the intersecting streets being shown in prominent type. The number of each building is given in numerical order and opposite such number is placed the name of the occupant, while the profession, business, etc., of individuals and firms are given at their respective places of business.

The whole is supplemented by the Alpena County Directory, giving name, number of section, number of acres, assessed valuation, township and postoffice address of all taxpayers in the county.

This book, forming as it does, a complete compendium of the city of Alpena, is placed by the publishers in the Directory Libraries of all the important cities in the United States and Canada, where it can be consulted by non-residents who contemplate a visit or removal to Alpena or the investment of capital. It is in this way that the Directory becomes an invaluable advertising medium for the city it represents.

In acknowledgment of the patronage bestowed and the many courtesies extended in the compilation of this work, we wish to extend our thanks.

R. L. POLK & CO., Publishers.

ALPENA CITY DIRECTORY

MISCELLANEOUS INFORMATION

HOUSE AND STREET DIRECTORY.

The streets are arranged in alphabetical order, the intersecting streets being shown. The number of each building on the street is given in numerical order, and opposite the number is placed the name of the occupant householder.

The profession, business, etc., of individuals and firms are only given at their respective places of business.

Chisholm street is the dividing line for all streets running North and South, and Second avenue for all streets running East and West. The system adopted is the same as used in Philadelphia and other large cities, known as the "decimal" system—one hundred numbers being allowed for each block. In cases where vacant lots, etc., occur, the usual number have been allotted them.

Note—Numbers in parentheses, viz: (1246), denote that the houses are incorrectly numbered, but their placement on the guide between the intersecting streets is correct. Double numbers, as 610 (910), denote that the number in parenthesis is on the house, but the number preceding is correct.
