Board Provides Student Center For College

Persian Students Mano Mossgou and Fred Sadri Attending A.C.C.

Fred and Mano came to the United States from Tehran, Iran in February of 1961 and November of 1963, respectively.

After arriving in the United States Fred went directly to New York where he stayed for six months. He then applied, was accepted and attended the University of Tennessee for two terms where he studied to be a Petroleum Engineer. In 1962 he became a worker for Delmonte Food Products in DeKalb, Illinois, driving a tractor on a farm. This being his first job was bad enough, but to top that he had never driven a tractor before. In September he attended the Eastern Tennessee State University for part of a term and then returned home.

In March of 1963 he left Iran again and traveled to Greece, France, Belgium, England, Switzerland, and Germany before returning to the United States. In April of 1964 he got a job in the Chicago Pasavant Memorial Hospital where he assisted with the operation of an artificial kidney. Then in July Mano came to Chicago. Together, Fred and Mano have traveled throughout the United States taking in the sights of Tennessee, Kentucky, Maryland, Indiana, Washington, D.C. and Oregon. They then returned to Chicago where they both were employed by Delmonte Food Products for a period of two or three weeks before coming to Alpena Community College where Fred is still studying to be a Petroleum Engineer.

When asked why he came to Alpena, Fred said, "I like a small community!"

Next year he plans to go to either Texas University, Oklahoma University, or Louisiana State University where he will hopefully complete his studies.

Mano, upon arrival in the United States went directly to Chicago, Illinois where he stayed for a period of eight months. During this time he attended the Central Y.M.C.A. where he studied the English language. He also went to all-night theaters where he watched the same movie over and over which also aided in his learning the English language.

In September of 1963 he came to Alpena Community College where he is majoring in Psychology. When asked why he came to Alpena he said, "I was looking for a quiet little town so that I could get most of my studying done."

This past summer Mano went to Detroit and secured a job at the Spartan Store operating a lift truck. Then in July he went to Chicago where he met Fred.

After traveling around the United States with Fred he and Fred returned to Chicago where he was employed by Delmonte Food

EXODUS AB COLLEGIUM

As white, soft blankets of snow cover the hard ground, and naked trees sway in the wintry-winds, we are reminded that winter is finally here, in all its glory! As the month of December swiftly advances, and Christmas music can be heard on the radio, and drifting through the downtown stores, another thing is quite evident ... that Christmas is coming! Just as in other places, the students at Alpena Community College are also anticipating the ## Former County Home of Alpena County turned over to College by the Board of Education for use by Students of A. C. C.

"Let's go over to the student center building." This typical part of campus conversation will soon be a part of the Community College Campus as it is at other colleges across the nation.

ANNOUNCEMENT

Mr. Ritter announced that the Christmas Convocation will be held in Central Hall, December 18th at 10:00 a.m. No information is available concerning the program to be presented.

The Board of Education in their regular meeting last Tuesday night approved a proposed plan for the converting of the former county infirmary to a student center for the college. The plan was formulated by a sub-committee of student government members and submitted to the Board of

Collegiate Singers To Sing for Annual Yule Convocation

The Collegiate Singers, under the direction of John Dovaras, will present a medley of Christmas Carols at the annual Christmas Convocation of A.C.C. which will be held at the Masonic Temple this Friday.

Resplendent in their red robes the group will undertake their most industrious program of the season at the annual event.

Their medley will include the traditional "O Holy Night," "While Shepherds Watched Their Flocks," and "A Babe is Born In Bethlehem" along with the German Carol "O Tannenbaum" which they will sing in German. Rounding out their medley will be the modernistic "Virgins Cradle Song" and secular number "Winter Wonderland."

The Collegiate singers, about 25 in number, will be performing through the remainder of this and the next semester, Director Dovaras said, and have as their accompanist, John Neumann.
