

Van Lare Hall's student lounge from 1964. In the past 3 decades, the lounge has seen many changes: plush carpets, comfortable padded chairs, study tables, a T.V. system, lockers, and a pop machine. While the new lounge is currently relaxing and enjoyable, do you think we could have the milk vending machines back? Please?

Tuition

Tuition at Alpena Community College is $130 per semester for residents of the Alpena Public School District, $250 per semester for non-residents of the district.

Although an extended payment plan is available, it is desirable that full tuition be paid at the beginning of each semester. Part-time students in regularly scheduled classes pay $11.00 per credit hour if residents of the Alpena Public School District and $21.00 per credit hour if non-residents. Part-time students pay a reduced registration fee.

In the majority of cases faculty advisors at Alpena Community College do not recommend that students audit a course. In the event that special circumstances would make it advisable for a student to audit, then the course audited would either be a portion of the student's normal load or he will pay the part-time rate as stated in the preceding paragraph.

Any Alpena Community College graduate may audit a course for which he has received previous credit, upon payment of a fee of $6 for each course each semester.

A part-time student is defined as one taking less than 12 credit hours. Any student taking more than 18 credit hours must pay the regular resident or non-resident fee for those credit hours in excess of 18, in addition to regular tuition.

Late Registration Fee

A late registration fee of $5 is required of those students failing to meet the registration deadline.

Graduation Fee

A graduation fee of $7.50 is required. This must be paid before final examinations are taken.

Summary of Academic Expense

	Resident	Non Resident
Tuition (per semester)	$130.00	$250.00
Activity Fee (per semester)	10.00	10.00
Course Fees (estimate)	5.00	5.00
	$145.00	$265.00

Fees are subject to change.

Textbooks and other instructional material may be expected to cost from $50 to $75 per year, depending on the student's program.

Unless special arrangements are made, all tuition and fees other than the graduation fee are due and payable the first day the College opens, although those paying during the first week are considered on a cash basis. Those who wish to pay tuition on the extended payment plan must justify this program and make necessary arrangements at the College Office by the end of the first week of college. These payments must then be made when due or the student may find that his status of good standing at the College is in jeopardy.

In no case may a payment be extended beyond the tenth week of the semester. Any student who owes any kind of obligation to the College such as tuition, fees, library books, etc., at the end of the semester will not be given credit for the semester's work and will not be able to use his attendance at Alpena Community College as a basis for job recommendation or for transfer to another institution of higher learning.

Taken from the April 28, 1970, issue of The Polemic.

BY POLEMIC STAFF

At the beginning of the April 8th meeting of the Advisory Council, the faculty representatives to that meeting, Frank McCourt and Dave Dierking, presented the following letter to Jack Petoskey:

Dear Mr. Petoskey:

Since the agreed-upon procedures for conducting the Advisory Council meeting have not been met, specifically, you have not prepared the agenda for the Wednesday, April 8, meeting by 4:00 p.m. on Tuesday, as per agreement; and since you refused to talk with a faculty representative concerning this agenda, the Faculty Council will no longer send representatives to this meeting until you honor your commitments regarding the agreed-upon procedures to the faculty.

Respectfully submitted,
Keith Titus, President

After this letter was read, both Mr. McCourt and Mr. Dierking left the meeting. During the discussion that followed Mr. Petoskey said that although he couldn't recall such an agreement, he would institute it for future meetings.
