

Sexual harassment protection explored

The National Advisory Council on Women's Educational Programs is conducting an on-going project to examine ways in which the Federal government can and should assist in protecting students from being sexually harassed by faculty, staff or other employees of secondary and postsecondary education institutions. As part of the study, the council is requesting information from former and present victims about their experiences, and from any others who may have knowledge of such harassment.

Responses need not provide any data which might identify the respondent, but should describe the type of harassment involved, the institutional and academic setting in which the incident(s) took place, any institutional or other action on the matter if the incident was reported, and the eventual outcome. Although the Council welcomes comments on this issue at any time, it hopes to conclude this phase of the project by January 1980, and ask that responses be submitted before then. Depending on the nature, scope, and circumstances of sexual harassment reported, the Council may hold hearings on this subject in the future. Ultimately, the Council may make recommendations for appropriate Federal action on the problem if warranted by the project's findings.

The National Advisory Council on Women's Educational Programs is a presidentially appointed body, established by Congress to advise and report on attaining sex equity in education. Its offices are at 1832 M Street, N.W., Suite 821, Washington D.C., 20036. Responses should be addressed to the chair of the Council, Ms. Eliza M. Carney.

Pop cans lifted from Law Enforcement Office

The two thieves that illegally entered the Law Enforcement Office at ACC in East Campus avoided expensive equipment in favor of stealing about 200 pop cans, two packs of cigarettes, a box of matches and a pocket knife.

An investigation ensued as the Alpena City Police were called to the scene of the crime the following morning. Two Law Enforcement students are assisting in the investigation which has turned up fingerprints, footprints, and charred matches.

The thieves walked through an open door during the daytime, and gained entry to the Law Enforcement Office by breaking the window to unlock the door. The trespassers then leisurely smoked cigarettes while ignoring the audio-visual tape recorder and monitor, and the copy machine to confiscate pop cans. The pop cans importance to the Law Enforcement students lies in the fact that they were being saved to be used for a future field trip.

Herman Bordewyk, ACC Law Enforcement teacher, commented that since the police are fairly sure who committed the crime, arrest is imminent.

Fire alarm prank causes policy change

Cathy Mason, Editor

Little did the two students suspect to cause a major policy change when they pulled the fire alarm at the Russell Wilson Residence Hall during the middle of the night on October 24.

As a result of this incident, the students each received a $100 fine, one week's suspension from school, and ejection from the Residence Hall. After they waived their rights to a hearing by the student Judiciary Board.

This incident precipitated the change in the policy Student Handbook which defines the students' rights and responsibilities to ACC as decided by the administration. Instead of facing immediate dismissal from the dorm, student offenders could face immediate dismissal from school after due process of the law as of November 8.

Also, from now on the Alpena City Police will be called in if anyone pulls the fire alarm when it is not necessary. The offenders of this misdemeanor could be prosecuted, and could receive up to $500. fine, with a maximum of one year in jail. Students have been continually pulling the fire alarm for fun in the Residence Hall. Ten times already this semester, the alarm has been pulled, usually during the dead of a frigid winter night.

This could create the ACC version of the "Boy Who Cried Wolf." This is what Director of Housing at ACC, Frank McCourt, fears. Students, tired of the frequent false alarms, might hide in their rooms when there really is a fire, resulting in injury or death.

Lorain wins Classic; Alpena finishes 1-1

It was a long trip but it was worth it for Lorain of Ohio as they edged Delta, 84-80, to claim the championship of the WATZ Thunder Bay Classic. Led by Ken McFadden, the tournament's most valuable player, Lorain replaced defending champs, Oakland, and became the first non-Michigan team to win the Classic in its nine year history.

If Alpena's play was any indication of the upcoming season then Lumberjack fans are in for a treat. ACC squeaked by Schoolcraft in overtime 87-85, but bowed out the next night in the semi-final to Delta 83-79.

Following is a brief look at Alpena's two games.

Alpena 87, Schoolcraft 85

The Lumberjacks opened their season last Friday night before a capacity crowd at East Campus gymnasium. Schoolcraft led most of the first half by dominating the boards and going to center Mike Grady, who finished the game with a team high 25 points. At the end of the half the Ocelots stood on top, 37-33. Alpena edged back into the game with the help of Dale Beard, who scored 14 of his game high 28 points in the final half. Jeff Cottrell made two clutch free throws with 21 seconds left in regulation time to tie the game and send it into a five-minute overtime. The lead see-sawed back and forth until Beard was fouled and deftly sank two free throws with 14 seconds left to win the game. A last second shot by Schoolcraft was wide as time expired to end the cliff hanger and send Alpena into the semi-finals.

Delta 83, Alpena 79

Alpena got into early foul trouble against Delta as Dale Beard and John Crooks, each with three fouls on them, sat out the latter part of the first half. Mike Williams and Mark DeSmet picked up the slack as they scored ten and eight points respectively, to give the Lumberjacks a 44-38 halftime lead. James Pitts headed a second-half Delta comeback and finished with a game high of 24 points and 13 rebounds. The lead changed hands numerous times in the final 20 minutes with Crooks fouling out in an attempt to stop the clock. The Lumberjacks went into a full court press, but time ran out to eliminate Alpena from further competition.

WATZ Thunderbay Classic Results

Schools lack identification

All schools, especially community colleges, face the problem of the lack of identification with the institution. Generally, students belong to a school only educationally. They are not part of the school. Many times, students demonstrate a lack of loyalty, cohesiveness, and school spirit.

A community college aggravates the problem of a lack of identification. Many students attend school from surrounding counties. The student population consists of diverse ethnic and age groups. These factors do not contribute to school unity.

Of course, at a community college like ACC it is impossible to achieve the identification that is present in a university. Yet there are pockets of unity at ACC. The students residing in the Residence Hall are a microcosm themselves, the clubs bring together those who share common interests; student organizations such as Campus Update, Earth, and Student Senate unite to achieve goals.

Yet the most powerful magnetic force at ACC, is in the area of sports.

For example the successful Intermural sports program, with the exciting flag football season just completed and the newly organized floor hockey competition beginning, gives its members and spectators alike a sense of pride in ACC, as will the men's and women's bowling leagues when they begin.

The star attractions, though, are the ACC men's and women's basketball teams. These teams play to a packed gymnasium while other community colleges have more playing on the team than cheering in the stands.

The Lumberjacks and the Lumberjills are the super-glue of ACC. Without them, there would be little identification at ACC. Yet, thanks to our excellent basketball teams, anyone can be proud to say "I attend school at ACC."

Muscle contest scheduled

Males and females will be flexing their biceps Monday, November 19 at 9:00 p.m. An Arm Wrestling contest is scheduled to take place in the center section of the Residence Hall. Winners will receive $10.00 in prize money. Come on down and test your strength.

Phi Theta Kappa recognizes students

The purpose of Phi Theta Kappa, ACC's honor society, is to recognize outstanding students and to give college students the incentive to achieve their goals. Members must rank high in moral character, leadership, and academic excellence.

Becoming a member of Phi Theta Kappa is not easy. First, the advisor of the club receives a list of all ACC students with a grade point average of 3.2 or better. He sends this list to all faculty members for approval or disapproval. Freshmen must be approved by at least three faculty members and sophomores by five to be eligible for membership. (If even one faculty member opposes a student's membership, that student is ineligible.) A letter is then sent to each eligible student, inviting him to join Phi Theta Kappa. The student may choose not to join if he wishes.

The students who decide to join attend a candlelight initiation ceremony in the presence of family and friends, usually held in December. Here, they receive a certificate of membership from the National head quarters, and become official members of Phi Theta Kappa. To retain membership, students must maintain a 3.0 or better grade point average.

Various money-making activities by the club help to finance initiation activities and an annual trip or tour.

This year's Phi Theta Kappa President is Faye Donald and advisor is Dr. Richard Moreau.

At the November 9, Phi Theta Kappa meeting, club officers were appointed. These were John Garant as Vice President, and Cathy Mason as Treasurer.

Planning began for the December 9 initiation of new members at 7:00 P.M. Fraternity members are urged to attend the November 30 meeting at 2:00 P.M. in the Learning Skills Center to discuss the arrangements for initiation of these ACC students chosen from the 1979 spring semester. Nominated students must notify Dr. Moreau by December 1, to participate in the Initiation ceremony.

Club promotes better business

The ACC/WAFB Business Club was established to better prepare students at the Wurtsmith Air Force Branch of ACC for the business world by providing an environment for personal growth and development, and to encourage interaction between students and the business community.

While the emphasis of the club's goals are directed toward the business student, the club is very interested in having Law Enforcement, Liberal Arts, Science, and Education students join its membership. The club membership believes that all occupations are a part of the business world.

The club's history is brief, but its future is bright. The By-laws were signed one year ago in September, 1978, and in that year, the club accomplished many things. The greatest accomplishment was the awarding of a scholarship for $100.00 to Kim Boswell for the Fall 1979 semester. The Business Club would like to make this a regular event every semester, and if enough funds can be raised, would like to award at least two scholarships this year.

Last year, the club sponsored the Readers' Dinner Theatre which was a great success, and this, too, will become an annual affair.

A Study and Learning Skills Workshop was first sponsored at Wurtsmith by the Business Club. Student response was such that it has now become a 5 week-1 credit class in College Survival Skills.

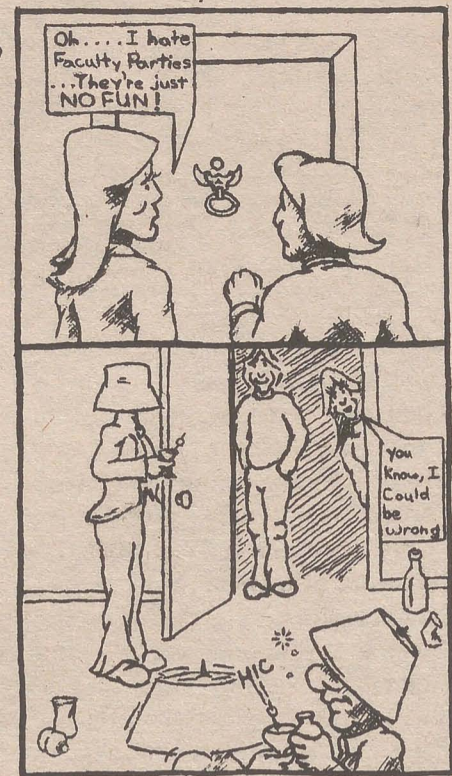

The Business Club wants to continue being an effective student organization, and to do so, it needs new faces, new ideas, and new challenges. IT NEEDS YOU!

Update accepts wishes

Here's your big chance to impress that special person you've been eyeing in biology. Campus Update is now compiling a Christmas Wish List for the next edition. Wishes will be published to friends, faculty, and students. Here's the best part--it's FREE. Submit as many holiday greetings as you wish, and drop them off in the Update shoe box in VLH, by December 7.

Slave sale to be held

Have you ever had the desire to own a slave? Thursday, November 29 at 9:00 p.m., a Slave Auction will be held in the center section of the Residence Halls. Faculty, staff and R.A.'s will be up for bids, so save your pennies and buy a slave for the day.

Deer contest in session

The Big Buck contest started on November 15. These are the rules for the lucky deer hunters of ACC.

1) A picture of the buck in question must be turned in to Room 121 N, at the Residence Hall or see Scott Green. The picture must be accompanied by the date the buck was bagged and this year, 1979.

2) $5.00 per point will be paid to the winner. In case of a tie, the buck with the largest rack spread will be declared the winner.

Attitude vital to winning team

Ken Lechtanski, Sports Editor

Can the Lumberjacks duplicate last year's tremendous basketball season? That is the big question that fans are asking as ACC opens its men's basketball schedule for 1979-80.

Last year the Lumberjacks finished with a 21-9 record and were runners-up in Region XII competition, the highest that an ACC men's basketball team had ever finished. Now comes the unenviable task for this year's team to try and repeat the success. Head coach Steve Schray thinks they can, "The potential is there to have that kind of team."

According to Schray, the key to last year's team was the players' attitudes. "Last year we had a super attitude." He says that it is important for the players to feel close towards one another in order for them to really work as a team and win.

Besides the attitude, Schray said that he feels that this year's team is actually better in some areas than last year's. The team has better depth in coming off the bench this season with a more balanced attack. The defense is also presently ahead of last year's pace at this time.

The Lumberjacks will continue to run the ball up and down the court in what Schray calls a personal trademark of his coaching style of "pressure basketball". Schray plans to take advantage of the quick speed on the team by running the fast breaks, using the full court press, and going with the quick rebounds.

The Lumberjacks will have four sophomores returning from last year. They are Dale Beard, Jeff Cottrell, John Crooks, and Mark DeSmet. Schray feels that these four players will have to carry the team early in the season until the rest of the players learn each other better and how to plan together. He adds that a good start is important this year because of the tougher going.

Besides the long trips that the Lumberjacks must always take to compete, this year's schedule is considered tougher than before. Those teams that are expected to really test the "Jacks" include Lorrain, Oakland, Jackson, and the MSU JV's. You can also believe that each team on ACC's schedule will remember their season last year and they will be pointing out Alpena and will play a little bit harder.

Co-ed IM hockey teams compete

As the snow begins to fall and the winter gear is brought out of storage, the ACC Intramural sports program opens its floor hockey season.

Four teams will compete in the program; Dorm 2, The Norsemen, Team 6, and The Fearsome Farmers. They will play each other every Monday evening at 7:45 and 8:45 in the East Campus gymnasium. The season will last six weeks where each team will play the others twice.

Following are the rosters of the four teams.

Dorm 2-Captain: Tim Roeske. Members; Loren Champine, Diane Dargis, Sal Frontro, Joe Gruber, Chris Katouais, Marge Kroll, Jim Manor, and Tim Roeske.

The Fearsome Farmers- Captain: Mike Eagling. Members; Doug Atchison, Steve Kanaski, Joe Kline, Ken Leask, Harold Manning, Dean

McConnell, and Mark Seguin.

Now a look at the opening week of play.

Fearsome Farmers, 5; Dorm 2, 3

Dorm 2 started off on the wrong foot as they scored into their own net to open the first period at 1-0. They came back as Marge Kroll tied the game on her first goal. Mark Seguin quickly put the Fearsome Farmers back ahead with two successive goals to make it 3-1. Kroll scored a short handed goal to end the first period at 3-2. Peggy Rose tied the game in the second period on a shot that made the score 3-3. Harold Manning won it for the "Farmers" as he scored a short handed goal in the second period and then scored again in the third to provide the final margin.

Team 6, 7; Norsemen, 3

Team 6 took a fast 2-0 lead on goals by Mark Engstrom and Dave Chappo before Bill Matzke scored to end the first period a 2-1. The teams traded goals in the second with Dave Perry scoring for Team 6 and Gary Gagnon for the Norsemen. Perry opened the final period with a tip-in to increase his team's lead to 4-2. The Norsemen came back once more on a shot by Keith Daoust to tighten the game to 4-3. Then Team 6 took command as Perry scored his third and fourth goals of the game and Chappo got his second goal to finish the contest.

Introducing the Update Staff

Sports fans and health nuts rejoice! Journalism student Ken Lechtanski has been appointed to serve on the Campus Update staff in the position of Sports Editor.

This expansion allows constant coverage on all ACC sports events, and other activities on the college curriculum. In the future, Lechtanski may travel to away basketball games for additional sports coverage. His main responsibility, however lies in relaying sports and health related issues.

A sophomore ACC student, Lechtanski is majoring in journalism or English. Further education is these areas will be at CMU next year. He would like to be involved with writing as a career, either in newspaper or magazine reporting.

Lechtanski's writing may be familiar to most, especially IM fans. He has covered the flag football games, giving play by play accounts, as well as writing on serious, legal topics. His work has also been published in last years edition of earth Magazine. The short story called "The Dormitory" uses symbolism to deal with dorm life as it relates to academic problems.

Interests include reading science fiction books and sports. He likes both spectator and participation sports, being involved in various neighborhood games. Lechtanski was also a member of the AHS track team in his junior year of high school.

Lechtanski believes that a person should get the most out of life. He expresses the importance of not being "tied down to everyday living, but to explore the many different perspectives."

Steve Schray

Ken Lechtanski, Sports Editor

"I like the idea of recruiting new students into the different programs here at ACC. I've found that Alpena has a good academic standing downstate and that makes my job more fun," commented Steve Schray, admissions counselor and men's basketball coach at ACC.

Now entering his third year here, Schray says that he enjoys his coaching position at ACC. He thinks Alpena has a good tradition which attracts players to attend the college. Schray adds that with enough players he can have a good team.

A native of Sunfield, Michigan, Schray attended Lakewood High School and then the University of Denver where he continued to play basketball. While at the university, he received his B.A. and M.A.

After graduation, Schray returned to the University of Denver where he became assistant basketball coach. He decided to come to ACC because he wanted to coach his own team and he wanted to return to his home state.

Speaking of his duties at ACC, Schray admits that "it's a lot of fun and a lot of work."

Schray and his wife, Paula, have a three year old daughter, Becky and a three month old son, John. He enjoys being with his family most of all. He also likes to play raquetball and golf.

Discussing his future ambitions, Schray says that he plans to live in Alpena in the near future and that his only goal is, "To have as good a team as possible at ACC."

movies

A satire on both horror films and rock groups, Phantom of Paradise succeeds brilliantly on both counts while carving out an identity of its own. The film tells the story of Winston Leech, composer of a rock cantata, on the theme of Faust, who sells his soul for Rock 'n' Roll. The film stars Paul Williams, Jessica Harper, William Finley, and Gerrit Graham. It will be shown in NRC 150 November 29 at 7:30 p.m., free of charge.

Two oddball drifters team up to change their luck in Scarecrow, an exciting and fascinating cross-country adventure. Their goal is to make it to Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania, where they have hopes to open a carwash. Various freight trains, hitchhiking, and walking are their methods of travelling. Scarecrow is a funny and shattering picture at the same time. Academy Award Winners Gene Hackman and Al Pacino star in this movie to be held in NRC 150, December 6 at 7:30 p.m. There will be no charge.

Club reaches out

According to unofficial president Jonathon Field, the Christian Fellowship Club aims at acquainting Christians with each other on the ACC campus.

One of the major projects of the club includes a survey to determine how people stand in relationship to their religions.

There are three student members and three advisors for the Christian Fellowship Club. The advisors are Robert Dominic and Keith and Sonya Titus.

Field expressed his concern for students at ACC when he said, "There's a lot of work...to do in reaching out to the kids on campus." Their concern is in helping people. If you have a similar concern, join up. Meetings are held every Tuesday from 1:00-2:00 p.m. in the East Campus cafeteria.

ACC Lumberjack Co-captains

Cathy Mason, Editor

If the number of captains on a basketball team is a measure of its success, the ACC Lumberjacks with four captains, should be one of the best.

The four returning sophomores act as co-captains for the Jacks. Their function as co-captains is one of leadership: they assist the Freshmen players with problems they may have on the team, functionally and socially. The four co-captains are Dale Beard, Jeff Cottrell, John Crooks and Mark DeSmet.

Sophomore Dale Beard, number 12, plays guard for the Jacks. As a freshman, he started every game last season, leading the Jacks in assists.

Although Beard at 5'11" is small for a basketball player, he thinks this is an advantage for him. He comments, "I can maneuver and get around, because I'm smaller."

After he receives his Associates Degree, Beard plans to major in communications and hopes to play basketball at a university.

Born and raised in Lansing, Beard is the youngest of ten children. His interests lie in sports: basketball, of course, rollerskating, and football; dancing and disco music; and hairstyling.

Jeff Cottrell 6'6" resides at Russell Wilson dormitory, and is presently taking Liberal Arts courses at ACC. His father is a colonel assigned to Wurtsmith Airforce Base.

Cottrell, number 44, was second in rebounding and field goal percentage last season. An excellent passer, he enjoys basketball, always showing up for practice.

Basketball is a vital part of Cottrell's everyday life. He would like to play ball next year at a university, but if that is not possible, he wants to get a job, and "have a good time."

John Crooks, number 22, thinks that you have to compensate for size if you lack it. As a 5' 10" guard, he believes that smaller players have to use their heads. "You have to be a smart ball player."

Crooks is an all-around athlete. Before being recruited to play ball at ACC, he ran track, and played baseball while he was in high school at his hometown, Oscoda.

In the future, Crooks is looking forward to being on a basketball team at a four-year school. Involved in the Liberal Arts program, he is considering coaching basketball as a profession.

Mark DeSmet, a Detroit who played ball at De LaSalle high School, thinks that the Lumberjacks have the "very positive attitude" that is crucial for a good basketball team. This 6'6" left-hander, plays center and forward for the Jacks.

Majoring in business management, and playing on a university team are De Smet's future plans. In the meantime, fishing for pike, dancing, and basketball keep him busy. He also enjoys electronics and tinkering with radios.
