Thunder Bay Classic

The Alpena Community College Thunder Bay Classic took place December 2, 3, and 4, and the Lumberjacks, coming back from a 42-31 half-time deficit, took the tournament from Glen Oaks Community College in the final seconds 72-70.

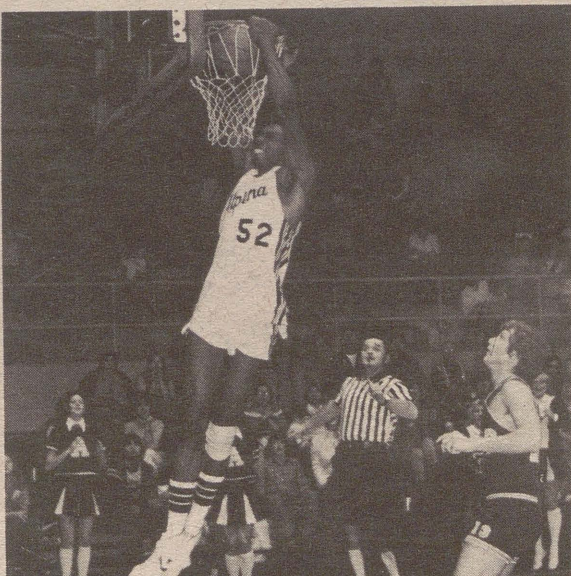

MVP for the classic was Alonzo Weatherly whose play, both defensively and offensively, was outstanding especially in the final contest. Also named to the All-Tournament team was Rick McGee, Alpena, Mark Mindeman and Mike Williams, NMU JV's, Lonnie Richardson, Cuyahoga Metro Carl Brooks, WAFB, Mike Sickafoose and Jim Guise, Glen Oaks.

On Friday, opening play began with Wurtsmith AFB blasting Bay De Noc, 104-90, Glen Oaks ripping Cuyahoga Metro, 93-72, the NMU JV's demolishing Kalamazoo, 103-83, and Alpena walking away from Kellogg, 90-56.

Scoring in the first game for the Lumberjacks were Alonzo Weatherly with 15, Mark MacArthur 12 points, Wendall Taylor and Randy Miller 9 each, Rod Everage and Rick McGee, 8 each, Alex Mosley 7, Earl Buckingham and George Coley, 6 each, Scott Dow and Chris Harris, 4 each, and Paul Gleason with 2 points. Rod Everage, Alonzo Weatherly, and Wendall Taylor had 10 rebounds a piece to lead the team.

Saturday was a day of close ones, with Cuyahoga the only big winner, pounding Bay De Noc, 98-80. Kellogg outlasted Kalamazoo 68-65, Wurtsmith lost a heart breaker 89-88 to Glen Oaks, and the Lumberjacks squeaked by NMU JV's, 92-88.

Leading the scoring for the Lumberjacks in the second game was Rick McGee with 23 points, Alonzo Weatherly 17 points and 14 rebounds, Earl Buckingham 20 points, and Rod Everage with 14 points and 8 rebounds.

Weatherly shows MVP form

On Sunday Cuyahoga Metro took the consolation game from Kellogg, 96-76. In the 3 o'clock championship game, the Lumberjacks looked beaten in the first half as mistakes turned into costly turnovers and Glen Oaks opened up a 42-31 advantage at the half-time buzzer.

Rod Everage put in 8 points, Alonzo Weatherly 6, and Wendall Taylor, Johnnie Baccus, and Rick McGee 4 points each to head Alpena scoring in the first half.

The Jacks must have gotten the word from Coach Schray during half-time because they came back ready to play in the second half. Late in the half ACC pulled back into the game and, with a breathtaking shot by Rick McGee that spun around the rim several times and dropped in, took the lead.

With 5 seconds to go Glen Oaks put in their final point with a free throw and Weatherly rebounded to hold the ball for the win. The small, but vocal crowd gave standing ovations for the winners and second-place Glen Oaks.

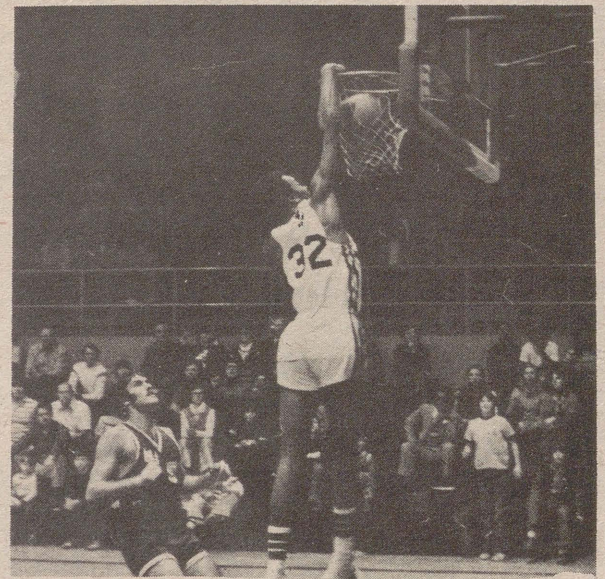

Final scoring in the game for the Jacks went: Rod Everage with 20 points and 11 rebounds, Alonzo Weatherly, 16 points and 10 rebounds, Rick McGee 10 points and 3 rebounds, Johnnie Baccus, 10 points and 3 rebounds, Wendall Taylor had 6 points and 6 rebounds, Alex Mosely had 6 rebounds, and Earl Buckingham with 5 points and 3 rebounds.

If Saturday's game had been cut in half, it would still have been too long, as the Lumberjacks trounced Kalamazoo 109-79 in a foul-filled rout.

Every member of the Lumberjacks scored in the game. The dragged-out affair turned into a farce as two Kalamazoo players fouled out and they were forced to play with four men on the court.

Rick McGee scored 10 points in both halves to lead Lumberjack scoring with 20, George Coley had 16 points, Alonzo Weatherly had 14, including a slam dunk, Chris Harris 10, Rod Everage 9, Johnnie Baccus 8, Paul Gleason, Wendall Taylor, Randy Miller, also with a slam dunk, and Earl Buckingham with 6 each. Mark MacArthur and Scott Dow had 4 points each, and Alex Mosley 2.

Jills Open Season

Drop Couple Close Ones

By Greg Reeves

The ACC Lumberjills took on their first opponents, the Lake Superior State College Lakers, on Saturday, December 10, and despite some fine shooting and defense, dropped the contest to the Lakers 57-56.

The Lumberjills, under the direction of Coach Pat Cornelius, came back from a 28-24 half-time deficit to lead for a good part of the second half before losing in the final seconds.

Scoring for the Jills in the game were Joette Woloszyk with 15 points, Lori Marsh 12 points, Phyllis Idalski 11, Sue Timm 10, and Vickie Davison 8.

The Lumberjills also played on Sunday, December 11 and dropped another close one, 57-52 to Sienna.

The Lumberjills were defeated 61-42 by St. Clair Community College in an exciting hard fought contest on Saturday, December 17.

St. Clair, probably the best women's basketball team in the state, had about all they could handle in the ACC team even though they had a big lead before the Jills even scored. Alpena fought back and were only behind 34-20 at half-time. Scoring for the Jills in the half were Joette Woloszk with 9, Phyllis Idalski 9, Sue Timm 1, and Cindy Flynn 1.

In the second half the Jills pulled back to within eight points, before they ran out of steam and dropped back for good, with St. Clair able to bring in fresh players off their strong bench.

Final scoring for the Lumberjills in the contest was Joette Woloszk leading with 13, Sue Timm, who came on strong in the second half, with 12, Phyllis Idalski 9, Vicki Davison, also had a strong second half, 7 points, and Cindy Flynn 1.
