are poorly designed and in many cases, the posted speeds are too high.

We have called upon the Ontario Government to study new ways of conserving fuel and to make the information available to motorists and truckers. We can see a useful role for an Advisory Council made up of representatives from the motoring public, government and the trucking industry."

Delegates also requested the Ontario Government to establish a commission of enquiry into all aspects of dump truck operation, and requested reasonable enforcement of Sunday trucking which they felt should only be permitted for emergencies, movement of perishables, long haul operations, and special temporary situations.
