

Porcupine Needles Company (cont)

Their business is style

Lise Lindenberg and Shirley Wright, who started selling shorts on the Farmer's Market three years ago, now have a thriving clothing business. Whether it's through craft shows or mail-order, the women create designs to suit everyone. Their colorful shirts are like water-color paintings on clothes.