

Dairy Operation Has Changed

One of the latest innovations in the modern day dairy operation is "bag" milk. Here Reid's Dairy employee Robert Miller operates the bagging machine which now processes about 45 per cent of all milk handled. The number of dairies in the city has dropped in the past 10 years from five to two with Reid's being the only locally owned dairy and also the only one to process milk in the city.