Quinte Bookshop.
Joy Nichols

Intell. Sept. 25/68

Books, books everywhere . . . anything you could ever hope to read. All this literary action takes place at the Quinte Bookshop, 48 Bridge St. East. The shop, under the knowing hand of Miss Joy Nichols, has a diversified selection of reading enjoyment. A customer's choice is made (centre) from the fine array of children's books; while at the same time Miss Nichols discusses the finer points of a non-literary purchase — a ball of yarn.

ing a quote from the Bible, "let not the sun go down upon a special order."

Looking back on her years of involvement with the book selling trade, she said simply, "I have enjoyed it it's been a lot of fun."
