

"To me Moscow was really interesting and I know they talk about a lot of crime there, but I felt safe."

Returning to the topic of work, Campbell sees a lot of change occurring in the field, making it an even more stressful job at times. But after nearly 26 years in the business he's starting to turn an eye to future endeavours and expects that eye will be peering through a camera view finder on many occasions.

Intelligencer
March 21, 1999
pg 9.