

Margaret Cooper, a 26-year-old resident of Belleville, will begin her first teaching assignment in Zimbabwe, formerly Rhodesia. She will be teaching in the South African country for three years, beginning in September. She said she's looking forward to the "opportunity of a lifetime." Here, she looks over a booklet on the country and is ready to sign her three-year teaching contract

Intelligencer May 25, 1982.