

Taylor, Harry

Intell
Aug. 17, 1981

No more train runs

Harry Taylor's grandson, Casey, 7, helps the retired railway engineer try on his engineer's cap in a retirement party Saturday. Taylor's father and grandfather were also railroad engineers. Taylor's last run was Saturday from Kingston to Toronto and he marked it by having his grandson ride with him in the cab from Belleville to the major city, before taking the train back to Belleville as passengers.

(Photo-Henry Bury)