

Stockton, Noel

(editorial)

Intel

Feb 4/82

Noel Stockton

Bel - Bury - S

Noel Stockton was a genial, kindly Briton whose passing is mourned by many friends and newspaper readers in the Quinte area.

Not long retired from his job in public relations with the Unemployment Insurance Commission, Noel in recent months had come through an operation and, aside from some stiffness in an arm, looked his old self.

Noel Stockton wrote for the old

Belleville Advertiser and more recently for weeklies in the area. He and his wife were frequent travellers and in our encounters we enjoyed hearing of their trips south and to England and Europe.

Our sympathy goes to Mrs. Stockton and family, in the loss of a husband and father who leaves a legacy of good humor, friendliness and integrity.

Intelligencer

February 4, 1982

ВЕРГЕЛІГТЕ ОМІ КВІ ЗВА
353 ВІНІУСТЕ 21
ВЕРГЕЛІГТЕ ВРСТІС ГІСВУА