

Bright smiles

Elisabeth Heidt is two-and-a-half now and her future looks bright. The youngster suffers from epidermolysis bullosa, a painful and incurable skin disease. It's meant her family has had to adapt its lifestyle to care for her but mother Heather, above, and father Roger found that a sincere belief in God helps them tremendously.

Heidt
Feb 5/83
RECO - Biog

Heidt