

Wallace
Massey

Wallace Massey might be 100 years old but he didn't show it at the party given in his honor by the Elks Club of Picton on Saturday night. Mrs. Bill McWilliam and Neil McMaster, who organized the party look on as Mr. Massey reads the greeting on the cake.

Wonderful to Be Alive Says Consecon Centenarian

PICTON (Staff) — What's it feel like to be 100? "It is wonderful" according to Wallace Massey of Consecon.

Saturday night a large number of friends gathered at Elk's Hall in Picton where Neil McMaster had arranged a party, to pay tribute to the 100-year-old man.

Mr. Massey was born in the village of Consecon Dec. 6, 1867 and lived on the property where he was born for all his life . . . Like his father and grandfather before him he was a commercial fisherman and many tales are told of his early adventures.

Saturday night, he appeared to be in good health His sight is fair but he is hard of hearing. He tried a dance and enjoyed the music and refreshments.

During the course of the evening Norris Whitney, MLA presented a framed scroll commemorating the birthday, from the Province of Ontario.

A large centennial emblem was decorated with 100 lighted candles and placed beside a huge birthday cake.

Some 12 senior citizens from the Prince Edward County Home were present for the occasion, Mr. Massey has been a resident of the home for the past two years.
