

Belleville Man With Caravan

George Moir, 50, manager of the Confederation Caravan which will be travelling through Eastern and Northern Ontario later this year, is shown with the lead tractor-trailer for the Centennial Commission project. Moir will be travelling through familiar territory, having served at a number of Canadian centres before his retirement from the RCAF in 1964. For the last several years of his service career he was stationed at Air Transport Command, Trenton, as chief air cadet liaison officer for Ontario. Since his retirement he has lived in Trenton, Belleville and Prince Albert, Sask. The photo was taken at Centralia, Ont., where caravan personnel are being trained for their six-month trip which starts May 1.

The Intelligencer
March 27, 1967