TRENTON--Dr. W. Robert Patrick, mayor of Trenton from 1974-78, will be the first Canadian president--in 1983--of the Academy of General Dentistry.

Dr. Patrick, its vice president in 1981, succeeded to the office of president-elect during the academy's 30th annual meeting last month in Boston.

Dr. Patrick is a graduate of the University of Toronto's faculty of dentistry and now has a private practice here.

He served as the governor of Trenton Memorial Hospital, is past chairman of both the county and city planning boards, and has served as a member of the board of police commissioners.

Dr. Patrick was also the past president of the Trenton Rotary Club, former director of the chamber of commerce, and former chairman of the city finance and public works committee.

He's been a secretary of the academy for four years and is past national director for the academy in eastern Canada.

The academy is a professional organization with a membership of 23,000 in the United States and Canada. It represents the interests of family dentists and the patients they serve in the development of health care policy.
