HISTORICAL STUDY — Members of the Aldershot Women's Institute have been busy for the last three years making a concentrated study of the history of Aldershot. Mrs. E. J. Banks, Institute president, left, is seen with three members of the study group, Mrs. H. D. Gallagher, Mrs. H. Y. Stevenson, and Mrs. J. L. Carson. The institute presented an outline of their findings to the Burlington Historical Society last night.

BURLINGTON — An outline of the history of the Aldershot area was presented to Burlington Historical Society last night. Over the past three years, Aldershot Women's Institute has made a study of the area. Mrs. H. Y. Stevenson, the institute's history convener, said the survey went back to French explorer LaSalle, who landed at what is now LaSalle Park. MRS. E. J. BANKS, institute president, introduced other members who gave brief sketches on the early families, clubs, and activities of the area. Speakers were Mrs. H. D. Gallagher, Mrs. William Crouchley, Mrs. Earl Klodt, Mrs. S. E. Wickins, Mrs. William Felloes, and Mrs. Allan Lancfield. Mrs. Henry Klodt, a descendant of David Fonger, the first settler in Aldershot, attended the meeting.
