

Norman's most memorable time in the army was the capturing of Beach Head to Falaise gap in the battle of Normandy, he then went to Holland where he and the other soldiers spent the winter until spring. There are 3500 Canadians buried in the Caen cemetery.

Norman really appreciates having a year named for the veterans because he believes that it is a time for the children to learn, and it gives them an idea of exactly what was involved during the war. A really good learning experience for all.

—written by Tracy King

Treasures from Norm's Military Service at Right are his Sgt. stripes, his dog tags, ribbons, shoulder flashes.