

Along the MAIN STREET

12 NOV.
1954

A familiar figure missed at the hockey arena this season is that of D. A. Sinclair, for umpteen years "Dunc" never missed a game and through the years he has been a faithful and loyal fan. He knew most of the players by their first names. His familiar presence could be seen in earlier days before the renovation of the arena standing at the south end looking through the screen. He never sat down at a game until the rink was revamped and fans were allowed to see the game from the new room on the second floor. Last winter he occupied one of the front seats behind the glass and this season he is missed.

Several years ago Dunc Sinclair was a hockey star in his own right on one of the Toronto Mercantile teams. Fans and friends in general join in wishing "Dunc" Sinclair a swift return to good health and a return to the hockey games.