Walter Richards, who passed away on Saturday, Dec. 6, was identified with the business life of Lindsay all his lifetime.

At an early age he took up the avocation of barbering and through the years he operated a business which catered successfully to the needs of thousands of residents of Lindsay and district.

In the barbering business he was preceded by several fine tonsorial artists as Ben and Percy Sanderson, Herb Williamson, Bert Naylor, Sandy Flack and others. He was an operator who retained many of his customer friends for many years.

Although never actively engaged in sports, nevertheless he was always interested. In other realms of endeavor the late Walter Richards was actively engaged in fraternal lodge matters.

As a barber he enjoyed the patronage of a mixed population, rich and poor, of church-going people and of others who had no definite church leanings. He was a bachelor.

As a conversationalist he had a splendid memory for names of people and past events.

Many readers can look back to pleasant memories regarding the late Walter Richards.
