SARCASTIC BUT RATHER GOGT

The following extract from an America per contains a vein of keen satire which our aders cannot fail to appreciate. The writer, THE BRUTAL FIGHT BETWEEN KING ubtless, desires to be witty at the expense of Canada, but he makes many hits at his fellowmericans which are of a very high order. His pathetic comment on the infatuated ignonce of Cahadians, who prefer specie to green-backs," is touching in the extreme. We subjoin the article in full : 40424

TWO HONOURABLES EXCHANGING COMPLIMENTS.

After the Opposition dinner in Toronto the Globe had an article headed, "Cauchon turned rouge;" in which the speech of the honorable gentleman from Quebec was held up to ridicule, and the following humerous allusion was made to his personal appear-

"He proposed that Upper Canadians, instead of agitating for Representation by Population should intermarry with Lower Canadians, and vice versa. How this would reduce the inequality between the two sections of which we complain, it is difficult to see, but we must protest, on behalt of the ladies of Upper Canada, if the idea is seriously to be entertained. must be sent on behalf of the gentlemen of the (which is always dated "London, Saturday.") by Holloway's Pills, that the latter remedy is sufficient to strike dire dread into the hearts of the date of Punch is no criterion at all of the

If any cavil at it, we will admit their demurfensive article was written by the Hon, Mr. Brown himself, and holds him responsib every word of it. He protests against the rudeness of calling him Cauchon justead of at least Mr. Cauchon. In this, we think he is right, and that no French paper is guilty of such uncourteous license, although rather com mon in the English press of our Province. The Hon. Mr. Cauchon, however, helps to make the joke more complete by an attemp to retaliate, and drawing a picture of his opponent as a pendant to his own.

"Me Brown taunts Mr. Cauchon with no being a very fine specimen of Lower Canada The Member for Montmorency will admit that a better choice could be made in point of physical beauty. Only we may ask who is he who thus assumes to judge of plustic beauty and of the handsomest of forms? Surely an Adonis himself!
