

Wool and Woolen Manufactories.

The following information will be found alike interesting to those who are engaged in the wool and woolen manufactures...

As an agricultural article is an honor to the reader. A joy is never dead, so long as we can remember it.

With the commencement of the war came a decided change. Cotton was no longer to be had, the factories were closed, and a great demand immediately arose for wool...

Music is the only earthly bliss that the imaginations of men have transferred to heaven. Poverty is the only load which is the heaviest the more loved ones there are to assist in supporting it.

One advantage connected with the production of wool is that a country may be supplied with this commodity in a tenth part the time that it would be with cotton from abroad...

While the Federals have over 40,000 Confederate prisoners, the rebel government only have about 13,000 Union prisoners. Lady Blackacre was robbed of her dressing case, containing $3000 worth of jewels, in a London hotel.

Water is an essential element for a woolen factory, and it will be most advantageous to erect factories in inland towns where water-power is to be had.

Do NOT SWEAR.—Profane swearing is justly regarded by all true gentlemen as a most debasing practice. The utterance of an oath quickly sinks a man in the estimation of all who entertain true notions of true manhood.

WORK FOR THE FARM, BARN, AND STOCK YARD. Manure.—Heaps of rapidly fermenting manure (or horse dung) will fire-fung even in midwinter. Work it all over, adding muck, soil, loam, or even sand, and mix well.

Plowing.—It is worth while to plow whenever the ground is open enough, and it is not unfrequently happens that it is so in January, especially below lat. 41°.

Seeds of all kinds should be free from dampness, and have more or less change of air. An old rat trap, or a box made of wire cloth, or an old tin pan or pail covered with the same material are adapted to the purpose.

Sleep.—Shelter from rains and storms, but do not confine them to close sheds unless fattening. Steers.—Look out and get good covers for your steers, if your herd does not supply them; spend some time daily, not breaking, but training them.
