that the County Council held a special session last Autumn on account of this road; that Col. Halliburton was sent on a special mission to the Commissioner of Crown Lands and has intimated that gentlemen in their behalf; that a special survey has been ordered, and that it is intended to proceed at once with the road. Nevertheless, we are in before them, if we only act at once. If the Council with the Town of Lindsay take up the matter with spirit, and you, sir, employ your pen, the thing can yet be done. Remember it is the trade of Nine tow ships and a rich Company that is now within our reach. The importance of this subject must be my apology for trespassing at such length on your space. I am, Sir, Yours Truly, A. RESIDENCY OF CO. VICTORIA. Dec. 12, 1864.

MR. HODGSON AND THE MARIPOSA MUNICIPAL ELECTION. To the Editor of the Canadian Post. DEAR SIR,—I find that a great many members of the Liberal party are declaring that lost confidence in the trustworthiness of J. Hodgson, Esq., do not intend supporting him as a candidate at the forthcoming election municipal election, and that he is now seeking admission into the ranks of our party. I wish to warn the active men of our friends against taking Mr. Hodgson into their ranks, unless they wish to introduce division, strife and hard feelings. I, for one, can never consent to work for or with any gentleman who has pursued the devious course Mr. Hodgson has, to gain his ends. I am satisfied from my own opportunities for observation that Mr. Hodgson aims in seeking admission as unworthy, and deserve the condemnation of all right thinking persons. Although I do not recommend the manifestation of partisan feelings in municipal election, still, if my information is correct in the matter, I should say to you down all such attempts with such objects. Your obedient servant, MARIPOSA, Dec. 12, 1864.

DOMESTIC RECEIPTS. PUMPKIN PUDDING.—A pound of suet, cut in pieces not to exceed 1 lb. of currants, 1 lb. of raisins stoned, 4 eggs, 1/2 a grated nutmeg, 1 oz. of citron and lemon peel, scalded fine, a teaspoonful of beaten ginger, 1 lb. of bread crumbs, 1 lb. flour and a pint of milk; beat the eggs first, add 1/2 the milk, beat them together and add delectable stir in the flour, then the suet, spice and fruit, and as much milk as will mix it together very thick; then take a clean cloth, dip in boiling water and squeeze dry. While the water is boiling fast put in the pudding, which should boil at least five hours.

CALF'S FOOT JELLY.—To four large well cleaned leeks put four quarts of water; let it simmer slowly till reduced to two quarts; when the meat is tender and leaves the bones take off the kettle and strain the whole through a colander. Let the jelly cool in the same rosin gradually; when cold remove with a silver spoon all the top fat; put the jelly into your preserving kettle, leaving the sediment at the bottom of the dish. Put the jelly in the kettle, the beaten whites and shell of six eggs, the strained juice of three large lemons, one pound and a half of the best white sugar, a large nutmeg, a teaspoonful of ground cinnamon. Allow it to melt gradually, do not stir it after it has melted; as the scum accumulates on one side, take it off. Have ready two straining bags, made of cotton or linen, sewed on small wooden hoops; put one bag on a large tea-spoonful of brown sugar, if you wish a deeper color to the jelly, which is to be poured upon it. Do not squeeze the bags—it will make the jelly muddy. When the jelly is in, cover the aperture of the bags. Should it not run clear, return it to the bag. When the jelly has passed through the bags, let it remain in the same rosin until it becomes solid. When cool fill up glasses with a spoonful from one dish, and from the other alternately; or if you choose, keep them in separate glasses. Calf's foot jelly looks best broken up in glasses.

PUMPKIN PUDDING.—Take one pint of pumpkin that has been stewed soft and pressed through a colander; melt in half a pint of warm milk, a quarter of a pound of butter and the same quantity of sugar, stirring them well together; one pint of rich cream is better than the milk and butter; beat eight eggs very light, and add them gradually to the other ingredients alternate with the pumpkin; then stir in a wine glass of rose-water and two glasses of wine, mixed together, a large teaspoonful of powdered mace and a cinamon mix, and a grated nutmeg. Having stirred the whole very hard put it into a buttered dish and bake it three-quarters of an hour.
