Many farmers are disposed to attribute its to the subscription obtained, and thereby

The injury inflicted on the wheat crop by the midge, the unfavourable atmospherical influences which seem to have affected this cereal, together with imperfect tillage of the land for its seed-bed, in conjunction with the reduced prices during the three last years have jointly contributed towards the farmer's embarrassments, and we are compelled to declare that farming during the period mentioned has scarcely been a remunerative occupation, yet we continue to hope for more favourable seasons, more favourable markets, as also the introduction of a more thorough system of farming. It is not to be denied that a large number of our fellow-farmers are experiencing serious pecuniary difficulties and will not find it possible to meet their engagements this winter owing particularly to the great deficiency in their farm productions of all kinds of the past season with the exception of Barley.

Our experience during the last ten years has led us to the conclusion that farmers here have depended too much on the wheat crop instead of turning their attention to other productions. We are convinced that DAIRY farming should receive much more attention than has hitherto been bestowed upon it; and we are also satisfied that FLAX could be grown to advantage, and possibly HEMP, as there are large portions of our soil well adapted to the growth of both : we understand that several farmers contemplate sowing flax next spring, and we are led to hope that the next annual report of this society will show that its culture has been attended with satisfactory results. We are also encouraged to hope that the science of Agriculture in general will ere long be promoted by the steps now taking by the Bureau of Agriculture for more fully developing the agricultural resources of the country, and for encouraging and tostering the farming interest, for when we see the government fully alive to the necessity of advancing so important a branch of national wealth, we the egitimate instruments are excited to increasd exertions in our calling.

We beg further to state that we are stron :ly impressed with the idea, that most beneficial results towards prom ting progress in agricultural pursuits in this Province would be effected through the establishment of Model or School-Farms i. each County. and more particularly in some of the newer settled Counties in the interior. We beg to say that we think through the joint means and efforts of the Agricultural Societies and the County Councils, together with a portion of aid from the Government, a farm of from 60 to 100 acres might be purchased for such purpose in the vicinity of each County Town and the land once purchased, the farm with

We beginest respectfully to lay before the Board these our views on the latter subject for its consideration, and if thought worthy of notice would also suggest that the matter be recommended to the further notice of the Government, and although such a scheme may possibly be thought by some to be somewhat premature in the present depressed state of our finances vet we trust the in this regard realized so far as to witness at
