That sprinkle the vale below ; Not for the milk-white lilies, That lean from the fragrant hedge, Coquetting all day with the sunbeams,

Not for the vines on the upland, Where the bright red berries rest, Nor the pink, nor the pale sweet cowslip, It seemeth to me the best.

With eyes that were dark and deep; In the lap of that dim old forest, Free as the winds that blow,

Sweetly his pale arms folded, My neck in a meek embrace, As the light of immortal beauty Silently covered his face, And when the arrows of sunset Lodged in the tree-tops bright,

Asleep by the gates of light That hang on Memory's wall, The one of the dim old forest Seemeth the best of all.
