ATRIP TO THE NORTH THE MUSKOKA COUNTRY. A NEW STEAMER!

OUR NORTHERN TOWNSHIPS.

Last week we were induced, for the fire time, to pay a hurried visit to the Muskoka Settlement, in the County of Simcoe, and to the Northern Townships of our own fine County. We started early on Monday morning and reached the Village of Kirkfield. cituated on the Portage Road, Eldon, and distant 25 miles, about 6 o'clock, a. m. This village has grown up out of the wilderness within the short space of four years. shops, hotels, blacksmiths, tailors, shoemakers, and a steam saw mill, owned by J. J. King & Co. Here A. P. Cockburn, Esq. has a general store, and the head-quarters of the lumbering operations of Cockburn & Son in Victoria County. Mr. Angus Macdonald and Mr. C. Donnelly have each very good hotels, where travellers are most comfortably entertained at moderate cost.

the Portage Road into the Township of Thorah to where it is intersected by the County Ontario Centre Road, leading from Whitby north to Atherly, which we took on are better built, better furnished, and have a our way to Orillia. This road has been very much improved, a large amount of money having been spent on it during the past seacon. In the Township of Mara are situated the Villages of Breclin and Atherly, the latter very prettily situated near the "narrows" and commanding a splendid view of the blue waters of Lake Simcoe, and the numerous islands with which it is studded. Below ing Lakes Simcoe and Cou-chi-ching and entered the County of Simcoe. A drive of village of dwellings. The Townships of Morison and Muskoka are rough and rocky and little adapted for farming. The timber is principally pine, and not of the best quality along the road, although, as we were informed, a short distance on either side, pine of a much larger growth and better quality could be found. About five miles from the Severn, on the Muskoka Colonization Road, we passed a grist and saw mill under one roof. The motive power is supplied by the swiftly run-171 pieces Factory Cotton ning waters of the Kosh-e-bog-a-mog-a never failing stream. Mr. Grant, the person who built the mill, died last spring; and his son, a lad of some sixteen years of age, carries on the business.

> A very pleasant ride of about nine miles over a good road, densely fringed with evergreens, which were heavily laden with the whitest snow, brought us to the lumbering shauty of Cockburn and Son. on

Here, for the first time, we found ourselve in a "shanty" of such spacious dimensions. A large fire, built in the centre of the room afforded warmth and light; the smoke escaped from a large aperture in the roof. Very comfortable, indeed, did we find ou quarters; and a very hearty supper did we make of the plain, betantial food, which the "cook" -a first-class one, by the way-placed before us.

The country around Muskoka Lake is well adapted for lumbering operations. Pines of spleadid proportions lift their lofty heads for miles in every direction; and the numerous rivers. Muskoka Lake and its outlet into the Georgian Bay, afford every facility for getting the timber to the Northern Railway at Collingwood. At Muskoka Bay, Mr. A.P. Cockburn has started a well-stocked general store, which we were informed by many of the settlers, was very much required, and supplies a long felt want. At the head of the Bay the same gentleman has nearly completed the erection of a wharf 300 feet long, of the most durable material. It is erected for the use of Mr.Cockburn's new steamer, the We-no-aah (the eldest daughter) now in course of construction to ply on the Muskoka and Rosseau waters. The We-no-nah will be 87 feet in length, overall, with a breadth of 25 feet. The model was furnished by the Messrs. Jenkins of Detroit; the engine, which will eelebrated works of Gartshore & Son, Dunto the settler : and as an aid to the developement of that northern region its importance can scarcely be over-estimated. We sincerely trust that the undertaking will prove as remunerative to the enterprising proprietor, as it is sure to be beneficial to the people of the northern townships.

MEETING AT NORTH FALLS. On Tuesday we proceeded to Bracebridge, commonly known as North Falls. This village is situated in the township of Macaulay. County of Victoria; and from its position, unrivalled water power and other natural advantages, the people of the district expect it vet to be a town of importance. There are wo hotels, several stores, grist and sawmills, and the various trades represented in the village. Mr. Alex. Bailey, the proprietor of the Mills, general merchant and Postmaster, has a good property and does a prosperous business. Let not our readers imagice for a moment that in this remote region-about 90 miles from Lindsay-that the people are se very far back, or that they lack any of the comforts of civilization. Such an idea would be wide of the truth. A person unacquainted with the rapid progress of the Muskoka settlement has but a very inadequate conception of the many comforts with which the settlers have already surrounded themselves. This state of things is, we believe, mainly owing to the class of settlers and to the excellent road which has been built by govern-Leaving Kirkfield, we proceeded along ment from the Severn to North Falls under the judicious management of J. R. Oliver. Esq., Crown Land Agent, and known as the Muskoka Colonization Road. SING IN JAMAICA.

The following are extracts from letters of gentlemen in Jamaica. One dates from Kingston, Dec. 9th, and exists:—" What is troops to guard the interior of the country. It is absurd to say the rebellion is crushed. The negroes are now more ready they are only prevented by the troops from doing so. The interior of the country wants looking after more than the coast, and at present, neither life nor property is worth much. The county of Cornwall is in a most unsatisfactory state. The negroes hold nightly meetings; are making hard-wood lances, and only fancy in these times! bows and arrows: Another correspondent, writing from St. Thomas-in-the-East, narrates some striking incidents during the outbreak last October, when he narrowly escaped: "About fiffy of my poople made a stand, and tried to keep the rebels back, but it was no use; they were about five hundred in number, and too strong for us. Diana—the Amazon negress you may re-member seeing here—said, "Massa look to yourself—leaf dem oders to me," and took my wife and infant in one arm and my two boys in the other, while the rest of my folks took the other ladies and hid saved our lives, as I heard one say, " De "Cheer, boys, cheer, Sebastopol is ng "Cheer, boys, cheer, occasions."
They were quite intoxicated with success; but, as in the case with all savages, that feeling gave way to abject fear when the soldiers, &c., appeared on the cene. After their departure, Diana and everal of my folks came and carried the adies up to their houses on the hills. Soon partner of her guilt. after. Diana's brother rushed in to say a gang was quietly creeping up in search for us; so again we scattered. It has been a freadful time, but so far God has spared our lives. I think from all I have heard that the squatters, rather than the regular laborers on the estates, have been the chisf actors in the late outbreak; and the tone of those calling themselves the friends of the negro is, I fear, likely to foment disnected with Jamaica, after suffering heavy losses, und abandoning our estates for want of regular steady labor, are the victims of this misdirected philanthropy."

CRIMINAL LAW.

(From the Ottawa Post.) The result of the labors of the Committee appointed to enquire into the question f capital punishment, in so far as it relates to doing away with the penalty alto-

punishment be penal servitude for life, or for any period not less than seven years, at the discretion of the sourt." Another point taken up by them was in relation to the crime of infanticide. As they state in their report, this crime as distin gnished from murder in general, is not known to the English law. The moment a child in born alive, it is as much under the protection of the law as an adult. Failures of justice having frequently occurred with regard to this offence, they thought it their duty to ascertain if possible, the cause of such failures and to provide a remedy. With regard to the case, the conclusion arrived at, was that the principal obstacle which now prevents the due enforcement of the law is the extreme difficulty of giving positive proof, that the child alleged to have been murdered was completely born alive. The remedy proposed is that it should be made an of fence, punishable by penal servitude or imprisonment at the discretion of the court, unlawfully and maliciously to inflict grievous bodily harm, or serious injury upon a chile during its birth, or within sevan days afterwards, in case such shild has subsequently died. No proof that the child was completely born alive should be required: With respect to the offence of concealment of birth, it is proposed that no person should be liable to be convicted of such as offence upon an indictment for murder, but should be tried upon a separate indictment. The accused should not be entitled to be acquitted in either of these cases, if it should be proved on the trial that the offence amounted to murder or man-slaughter. These are improvements, as far as they go. but we doubt if they go far enough. A cousideration of this compels us to apparently wander from the precise point in question It is only in appearance, however, for the offence of which we would speak, should be as much subject to the criminal law as is infanticide-we mean the crime of seduction. and with it that known to the law as .crim. con. It is a disgrace to British law that these offences are at present only punishable by civil action, and that the only punishment that can be awarded is in the nature of pecuniary damages. Not only is this the case, but the mode of procedure in such actions is grossly inequitable. The action of seduction, for instance, is brought for the pecuniary benefit of the plaintiff, who, in the suits is allowed a privilege granted to the parties to no other species of civil action; she is allowed to swear her own case, while the defendant is denied a like privilege. The result of course is, that she may choose her own defendant, and with common caution can select, as her victim, him who has the most wealth, and secure his conviction. In nine cases out of ten, no other evidence can be produced, and she is thus enabled, with impunity, to swear money into her own pock-The frequency of these disgusting actions throughout the country, show to how great an extent this kind of black mail is levied, or at best, how frequently a woman is willing to accept, in open court a money consideration for the sacrifice of her honor. One of the alterations to be made in the law should be with regard to this, as it at resent stands. If, in the wisdom of Legislature, it be thought best, that the action should remain civil in its nature. then the procedure in it should be made to conform to that in other civil actions. That is to say, the chief witness in the case should not be one who will benefit

The H. Better still than either of these alterations would be one which should render both the majority of cases, the parties are equally guilty. It is not until some such severe measure be introduced into the statute book, that public morals in this matter will receive that protection which the law should afford. And here is the connecting point between the two offences. As on the one hand we hold that strict justice demands that in seduction both parties should be subject to criminal prosecution and punishment; so on the other hand strict justice demands that with regard to infanticide the woman should not be made to suffer alone. He whose villany and desertion have brought made to stand in the criminal dock along them. By this time the rebels were close already have suffered more than he will : to the works, calling, "Coler, coler! no she will have lost character and position white skin to escape!" and came in smash- in society, and the love of friends, and the ing everything and searching for us. FENIANS EN-ROUTE THROUGH CANADA.

It appears that Mesers. Reberts and Sweeey, the heads of the Fenian faction, whose deluded policy is the invasion of Canala as a blow to England, have moved east and west on the Great Western Railway. Their movements, however, did not pass mobserved, for if we are to credit the Hamiiton Times, they were seen by the police and others, fast asleep in the sleep? ing cars. They were, of course, andisturbed, and preceded, on to their destination. There is nothing very dreadtur in this, and if all their follows behaved themselves as peaceably there would not be much cause for uneasiness. It is not without without a feeling akin to apprehension, wever, that people witness the military precautions that are used, and are aware Government is in almost hourly receipt dispatches, indicating expected movements on the part of the Fenian clans. No one believes but that any attempt at a landing, any endeavor to secure foreible possession by as maranding force, would be at once defeated. But it will be safe to bear in mind that unless through the interference of the American Governmentl a power to commit considerable evil, to work much damage and dismay exists. So far the American Government has taken no action to repress the movement which has been openly declared, the hostile inten-tions efficiently states within its jurisdiction. It is thought, indeed, that they have not been unwilling to allow the English Government to feel no little uneasiness on account of Fenianism. At the same time it is not unreasonable to suppose that it would interfere to prevent an actual invasion, and the inflicting of wanton-like injury on the part of its citizens, though the recent occurrences at Bagdad are not very reassuring on that point .- Free Press.

this country in too strong a light, nor yet in too much shade. I agree with Viscoun Milton in his general description, but have not sufficient acquaintance with the country to follow him in all respects. I assisted to harvest two crops, and my own a very short time. The balance of my time I put in, at something equally profitable and more congenial to my taste than mining. From the U. S. boundary line to the north branch of the Saskatchewan River is about 300 miles. Much of this section is salty and will never be fit for cultivation until some chemical changes take place. An Explanation.

Last week we heard a number of complaints from the West relative to the non reception of the POST at a number of places on the Beaverton route; and in connection with this matter, we have to remark that with very rare exceptions our papers are mailed before nine o'clock on Thursday evening, so that they go by the mails next morning. Last week, however, owing to the absence of the Editor, they were not mailed until the following day (Friday,) but those for the Post Offices to the West should have reached their destination on Saturday. That they did not do so is due to the fact (as explained by the Postmaster here) that the boy who brought the papers to the office placed the basket containing them under the dosk, where they were overlooked until after the Western mail closed. An oversight of this kind may not again occur for years, and we trust our subscribers who were disappointed will accept the above explanation.

Dr. Ryerson's Visit.

To the Editor of the Canadian Post :

Sin,-As Dr. Ryerson will visit our town on Toesday next, it is to be hoped that a large number of our Teachers and School Trustees throughout the County, as well as others who teel an interest in educational matters, will be present. Many changes for making our school ses-tem more efficient are imperatively demanded. A good opportunity is now afforded for bringing before the notice of the Rev. Dr. any auggestions calculated to improve the schools of our country.

Hoping that the friends of education throughout the County will take an interest in the matter, I am, Mr. Editor. Yours &c.,

Lindsey, Feb. 6th, 1866.
