It is proposed that the Town Council should grant the right of way along that avenue and we believe the railway could make use of that privilege for upwards of a milestriking the avenue at the southern imits and leaving it north of the gaol where the road would bend to the north west, crossing the Midland at a poist favourable to the exchange of cars and trains. All things considered this probably would be the best place and the best conte. The great width of the avenue one hundred and twenty feet, the same as Kent street, would allow plenty of room for the trains and town traffic. Office enquiry in progress cutting a few feet only would be necessary on the line near the gaol.
