FORLORN HUPE. - (To the Editor of THE POST.)—Siz.—In picking up a copy of the Lindsay Warder of May 13, I see an article from its Balsover correspondent on the return of Mr. Hector Cameron as member for the North Riding of Victoria. The article in question in the state of Riding of Victoria. The article in question is rather of a flattering nature to parties not acquainted with its author. To see two large bonfires in a small village, and its inhabitants gathering with a hurrah around it, speaks volumes for the popularity of Hector. Now, being an eye witness myself to the whole affair, I must say that the priter made a givenous mistake in his writer made a grievous mistake in his representations. True there was a fire shafting and double speed, the fron Champion and the Baltimore, the best machines made. The Johnson & Wood's, furnished to order. Respers free one season to parties giving us their orders from date to the 15th of June. We have also three kinds of the best Horse Rakes for sale. It is not seen that the list of June. We have also three kinds of the best Horse Rakes for sale. It is not seen that the list of June. We have also three kinds of the best Horse Rakes for sale. It is not seen that the June of two barrels and a tea chest, with a faint hurrah from a few drunks and loafers. On hearing the pow-wow, I stepped to the door, but to my surprise the street was clear with the exception of two children. It looked as though they were a benighted lot, as amed of the petty attempt at a celebration. The same party has horselved and the surprise the street was clear with the exception of two children. It looked as though they were a benighted lot, as amed of the petty attempt at a celebration. The same party has hurrahed here before but it happened that they were not out of the bush. Twice or thrice their joy has been turn of the doors of some government is so readily abused as he or they are, from a dismissed or incapable servant drawing probably five or six dollars a day, as soon as their ill gotten gains are spent in going from tavern to tavern, and all means exhausted—even to the (fatted calf)—traise the wind. Then at the end of the chapter, they turned not only on the government of the country, but on the government of the country, but on private parties and vent their chagrin and malice. But in this section, any thing coming from such authority is of small account further than reading low trash from the Warder. In reference to the suckers, and the Inspector of Fisheries, all I have to say is, that we have not any official in that capacity here, but we have a corpulent whiskey sucker amongst us, and if the Inspector had been here the same night here a could have seen him in the gutter he could have seen him in the gutter rolling and tumbling for a hole to

Of that celebrated street, and 737 is near the centre of what has become the local area of New York publishing houses.

The Canadian Monthly for May opens with the first part of a very interesting sketch of the late Hon. Joseph Howe, by the Rev. G. M. Grant, Halifax. Mr. Howe's career is worthy a fuller biography than can be brought within a magazine article; but this contribution will be read with much interest by Canadians. Mr. A. T. Drummond, of Montreal, has a thoughtful review of "Imperial and Colonial Confederation." The poetical contributions are fair; and the several editorial departments maintain their standard of excellence.

The New Dominion for May is fully THE NEW DOMINION for May is fully up to the useful and popular, but not very high standard of literary excel-lence established by this magazine. This number is embellished by a vig-nette of Darwin. VICE'S FLORAL GUIDE-No. 3 for this year is to hand, filled with good things appropriate to the season. It is a model of typographical perfection; and is always helled with pleasure by gardeners—amateur or professional.

HARPER's for June has arrived already, and as usual is full to over-flowing of the varied and interesting matter this magazine always gives, with numerous and well-executed engrayings. Canadians will turn to the descriptions and illustrations of the "Channel Islands;" and Parton's essay—a part of a series—on caricature in the Hogarthian period, The edi-torial departments are good; but the Drawer has many stale anecdotes.

Under those circum-stances it will be wise for traders gen-erally to curtail business, for any attempts to push trade when there is no sound basis for it can only result in heavy loss.

The Mark Lane Express of the Candies and Confectionery week, says a cable telegram, in its review of the breadstuffs markets, says: -There has been a marked improve ment in temperature the past week, reaching the height attained in sumtry.
