The documents relating to the amalgamation of the two congregations in Lindsay were next taken into consideration. After the documents had been read the resignations of the ministers of the two churches were read and laid of the two churches were read and laid on the table. The two ministers—Rev J A Murray and Rev E Panton—made brief addresses, stating their warm attachment to their congregations and that resignation called for a great sacrinee on their part; but still they felt it to be their duty for the sake of union to sacrifice their private feelings and gracefully retire from their positions in order that the united congregations could elect another minister.

Mr T Ray and Mr J Watson spake of the high esteem in which the ministers seed only so and see for themselves to be convinced of the satisfy from highry and the complete control of the satisfy from highry and the complete control of the most refractory and sulty horses, he the charge of the severy man who takes an interest in the animal, and especially in his proper education, to avail humself of every opportunity to this end, and no better opportunity in the control of the contro

DEAR SIR,—The undersigned, on be half of the members of your numerous class in this city, desire to testify their appreciation of the valuable instructions you have imparted to them. The unwaring assiciatity with which you have endeavored to make those instructions comprehensive and entertaining, and their high estimation of your admirable system of educating and managing the horse. The knowledge imparted to us during the meany isctures and exhibitions of your unexampled method of treating that noble animal may be of incalculable benefit to many of us. We do not besinate to say than numbers of accidents throwledge of managing the animal you have make so perfectly subject to your will, and we advise everyone whose business or profession require frequent, if not constant, use of the horse to employe an entire the propertuality of acquiring a knowledge of your system. Farmers whose business occasionally calls them into our cities, and the immediate neighborhood of our railways, we especially urge the necessity of learning your simple and effectual method of outrol—a method of the horse as by the reasoning faculties of man. We trust that your sojourn in the Quem City of the West has been both pleasant and remunerative, so far at least that will at no distant day induce your return.
