and may be entered, rated and assessed on such roll. in respect of farm, in manner following:

A Quebec member said the question the people kept asking him was:

Whether it would be right in Mr. Mackenzie or Mr. Blake, when they went out, to keep a large sum of the public money in a hank at their own account, under their own control, without telling their successors anything about it for two years? Though he kept a stiff lip to outsiders, still he must say, as difficult question to answer in a difficult question to answer in twas a difficult question to answer in they were all friends together, that it was a difficult question to answer in they was the main thing to be considered.

Mr. Plumb said his hon. friend who had just taken his seat was altogether too sensitive. He (Mr. Plumb) had no seruples of that sort, he was happy to say. His hon. friend seemed to forget Mr. Mackenzie and Mr. Blake were mere politicians, while their chieftain bore the title of Right Hon. Mr. This or That. while their chieftain bore the title of Right Hon. Was it reasonable at Right Honorable gentleman should be made to tell what he did with public monies like a common Secretary-Treasurer of a Building Society or a cashier of a bank? It was to be remembered, also, that the Ministerial leaders were only Hon. Mr. This or That. while their chieftain bore the title of Right Hon. Was it reasonable at a Right Honorable gentleman should be made to tell what he did with public monies like a common Secretary-Treasurer of a Building Society or a cashier of a bank? It was to be readed and assessed at an amount sufficient, i tenant, or occupant, as the case may be, of the said farm.

See & If the assessment for the year 1877 be completed before the passing of this Act, any son who would be entitled were such assessment not so completed to have his name entered on the assessment roll, or voters' list, may apply in that behalf to the Court of Revision or to the County Judge or to the Court for the revision of voters' lists, as the case may be, and shall be entitled to have his name entered on such assessment roll and on the list of voters in the same manner and with the same effect as if this Act had come into force on the first day of January next prior to the passing thereof, and the proceedings under this section shall be the same as in other cases under the Assessment Act of 1869, and amendments thereof, and the Voters' Lists Act of 1876.
