THE MILLBROOK "SHOW."

Slim Conservative Reaction.

[Correspondence of The Post.]

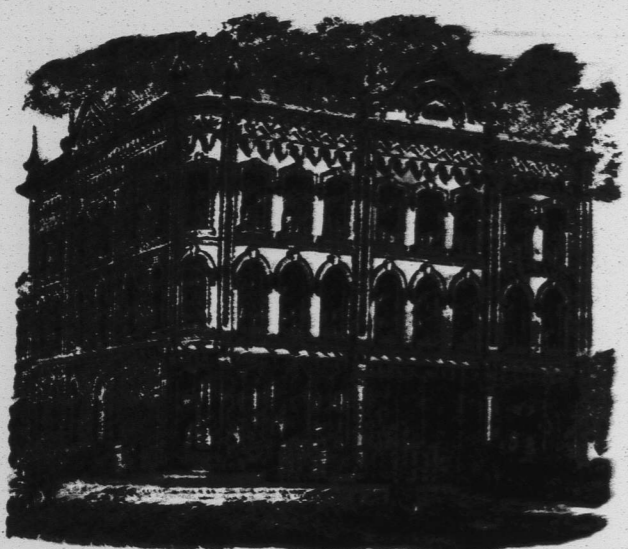

The "grand" Conservative demonstration and picnic here Tuesday was a failure in every respect, and did the "cause" more harm than good. The arrangements for the affair were made on a pretty large scale, but somehow everything had a discouraged appearance and even the "Chieftain" and Mr. Plumb failed to inspire cheerfulness. The committee had constructed four arches. The first arch was at Dyde's, and had the motto, "Welcome, Sir John, not for yourself but for the country." The second opposite the residence of Mr. Vance, postmaster, was made up of all the old wagons and buggy wheels that could be found in the place, with an old pair of boots here and there in the structure. Mottoes, "Languishing trade," "Protection we must have." The third arch, opposite Staple's hotel, was an agricultural structure, displaying more prominently than anything else a number of pump'ins on every point surmounted by a plough. The mottoes were, "Our agricultural and manufacturing industries hand in hand," and underneath the words, "Protection to our industries." They did not say how the agricultural industry was to go hand in hand with the manufacturing industries having protection as a stepping-stone. The fourth arch was opposite Reynolds's hotel and had the mottoes, "Protection we must have," "Steel rails will rust," "Neebing Hotel cost us $5,900," etc., surmounted by a highly colored picture of Sir John by a local artist. Sir John and his friends did not come in by the regular morning train but by a special at 11.45. They were met by an escort of 22 gallant horsemen, armed to the teeth like Bashi-Bazouks, and a procession formed, headed by the Port Hope band. The procession was composed of about thirty vehicles of various kinds, Sir John occupied the first carriage; Dr. Tupper the second, and the lesser lights were distributed among the remainder. They proceeded to Meed's grove, where after lunch, speeches were delivered. Mr. Rosevear, M.P., opened the speech-making in his usual style. Then came Dr. Tupper and Wm. Macdougall and after them Sir John. The latter by his own story was a greatly injured man. Mr. Plumb wound up the proceedings of the day. The attendance was by no means as large as expected. A good many Reformers were attracted out of curiosity, but they were only strengthened in their adhesion to Reform principles by the reckless character of the speeches. A prominent South Victoria Tory present said the audience was not one-third as large as that at Lindsay and this will give your readers a good idea of the attendance.

The Toronto dailies are nowhere now a-days in Lindsay. Home paper preferred.

The DAILY POST is not a subsidiary organ to the Globe or any other—notwithstanding the remark of a distinguished statesman at Lindsay the other day.

The first of a series of addresses to young men by several talented speakers during the winter season will be delivered by Rev. Mr. Hastie, on Tuesday evening, 16th inst., in the Association Rooms of the Young Men's Christian Union, Hamilton's Block, Kent-st. The public generally and young men in particular are respectfully invited to attend.

AN EXCITING POLITICAL CONTEST is in progress at the bazaar, nearly opposite the Benson House. Voting is going on for a handsome dressing gown to be presented to Sir J. A. Macdonald or Hon. Mr. Mackenzie. At noon to-day the boasted Tory reaction was nowhere, Mr. Mackenzie having double the number of votes obtained by his opponent after the most reckless corruption. Long may the winner live to wear this most comfortable garment.
