From the ages that are past
The voice comes like a blast,
Over seas that week and drown,
Over tumult of traffic and town;
And from ages yes to be
Come the echoes best to me,
O Absaiom, my son!

Somewhere at every hour. The watchman on the rower Looks forth, and sees the fleet Approach of the burrying feet. Of messengers, that hear. The tidings of despar, O Abesiom, my son!

it."
"Then don't," still laughing.
At this instant Luttrell, who has been with gloomy face watching Philips eager gase from the other end of the room, sannters up, and, seeing the old, well remembered duet lying open before Molly, suddenly thinks it may be there for him, and cheering up, says pleasantly:

there mostly, suddenly thinks it may be there for him, and cheering up, says pleasantly:

"Are you going to sing it with me, Misa Massereene.

"Not to night," Molly replies, kindly. "Philip has just asked me to sing it with him. Some other time."

"Ah!" says Luttrell, more wounded than he cares to confess; for is not that very song endeared to him by a thousand memories' and turning on his heel he walks away.

With a little impulsive gesture Molly rises from the piano-stool, and, without again looking at Philip, moves across the room to the seat she had originally vacated. As she does so she passes close by Marcia, who, ever since her cousin's voice first sounded on her ears, has been sitting silent, now pale, now red.

She stays Molly by a slight movement of the hand, and says, somewhat coldly:

"I thought you told me you could."

THE MEMORIAM.

One more herp is tuned in glory,
One more anthem raised on high,
To the matchless praise of Jesus,
Who has brought redemption nigh,

Farewell earth and earthly love, Ye can pain and please no longer,

Now I rise to joys above. I have built on sure foundation, Jesus Christ the corner stone, Only name in earth or heaven

HYMENIAL On Thesday last we had quite a gay time here owing to the marriage of Miss Elizabeth Thurston to Mr. James L. Jones, a gentlement well known both in Bobcavgeon and Onemee, and a school teacher of the bride, Mr. Jabez Thurston, who for many years was reeve of the lown of the bride, Mr. Jabez Thurston, who for many years was reeve of the lown of the second was a surprivate of the second was a surprivate of the lown. BOBCAYGEON.

DOINGS IN THE POLICE COURT.—Jos. Barnhart, a man of Indian antecedents, was, according to the Independent, the cause of two sittings of the Police Court last week. Barnhart was charged with drunkenness and using bad language by Cheetham, the village constable, who arrested him and took him to the lock-up. Godfrey Ceserea, a Frenchman, interfered whilst Cheetham was arresting Barnhart, and Cheetham, very properly summoned Ceserea for the offence. When a constable is performing his duty to interfere with him is a very serious offence. Ceserea was arrested and admitting the offence was fined $4 and $4 costs, to be paid forthwith, or in default 30 days imprisonment. Barnhart was brought before the magistrate on Tuesday when he was defended by Mr. Lennox. It is unnecessary to say that he was convicted. Cheetham proved the case, and the first of Mr. Cheetham proved the case, and the condition of the Lornes and the condition of the condition of the Lornes and the condit BOBCAYGEON.

NEARLY LOST A VOTE.—One of the fat cattle purchased by Mr. Harry Winch for Easter, a heiter from the herd of Mr. Thomas Blezard, the Reform candidate for the East Riding, created quite a sensation in the market place the other day charging some of the butchers, and having sharp horms, she nearly spoilt a good Conservative vote.
