It is noteworthy that those who nave have passed previous seasons at the St. Cloud return to the same place, and very pleasant acquintances thus made are often resumed in succeeding summers. Mrs. Manson has deservedly won and retained popularity for the St. Cloud, and families, especially from Canada, will find this a desirable and comfortable stroping place. It is but a short distance from the station, and is perhaps the best location on the beach. It accommodates about two hundred people, so that there is pleasant society without too great a throng. On each side are two or three well-kept hotels, and the locality is quiet and orderly, though this may be said of the whole beach. The prices will be found reasonable. From ten to twelve-o'clock is the favorite time for bathing, and when the day is tine, which is nearly always the case, and the tide is at the highest at that particular time, the and an elderly but still boyish divin orderly, though this may be said of the whole beach. The prices will be found reasonable. From ten to twelve o'clock is the favorite time for bathing, and when the day is fine, which is nearly always the case, and the tide is at the highest at that particular time, the beach presents a very animated appearance. The beach at ebb-tide is thrice as wide as Kent-st. and just as smooth and hard, making it a popular and fashionable promenade; and when the tide comes in the water is not more than four or five feet at a distance of a hundred yards from the shore, so that bathing is quite safe, and there is ample scope for swimming without going too far out. Hundreds and almost thousands then line the shore and breast the surf. The breakers are simply "gorgeous," and roll in their white cape slowly and steadily. The bathing costumes are of two or three kinds only, and do not afford much variety. In fact a bathing dress does not give much scope for the designing genius of the Worth of the sea-side. In some sceen it is scant and limp; in others it is like a single envelope; others again give some slight fanciful touches and present a coquettish appearance. the Lindsay and Omemee High Schools in the far past. Rivalry between schools is always to be deprecated; schools are the people's property for the public good, and are, therefore, at any time subject to the influences of fickle and reactionary forces. I decline to take part in such comparisons. It is true that the old regulations at one time gave all High Schools the option of using Toronto papers, or of having their own printed. Omemee printed; the Board required me to prepare the papers; I invariably prepared 15 to 20 questions on each paper; submitted them to Mr. Knight; he made his selection and always said they were good.
