A man named Jarvis and another ed F. Copper, residents of Mados ship, have been in dispute for some over a quantity of timber each of claiming to be the proper owner on the 15th of December the Ill-feeling has existed for some time between parties resulted in a desperate attack made by Cooper and the woman whom he boards upon Jarvis and his Cooper armed himself with an axe on hogors took a revolve an extra on the woods, where Jarvia was cutting timber. Cooper ordered Jarvia was, he refused, whereupon Mrs. Hogers d two shots at him, neither of which, matchy took effect. She then levelled datol at Jarvis' son and fired twice, owing to her limited experience in ig the weapon she failed to carry out orpose a second time. Cooper then seforward and attempted to kill Jar atriking him on the head with the Jarvis was altring straddle of a big sentenced Cooper to three months in the central prison, and the woman to three months in the central prison, and the woman to three months in the county gaol.

he was drawing cedar from the swamp. The Peterboro Examiner says: "Not a hundred miles from town, two aspirants to the office of school trustee, being of an economical turn of mind, and not wishing economical turn of mind, and not wishing to put the municipality to the expense of an election decided upon a new plan. They therefore withdrew into a certain backroom and "drew cuts" with broken matches, the one who got the longest cut to be trustee. Sufficient to say, the professional man won. They afterwards retired to a quiet place and clenched the bargain in something stronger not and quite so dry as matches,

A most deplorable fatality occurred at No. 20 Lippineot-st., Toronto, Wednesday night. Mr. John Sanderson, a wealthy farmer of Peterborough, was in the city paying a visit to his two sons, who are attending Toronto university, and who reside at the address given. After tea Mr. Sanderson walked into a room in which there was no light. It is thought that on his way back he mistook the ce lardoor fer that of the room. However that may be, he was heard to fall and strike heavily at the foot of the cellar stairs. He was pick-ed up bleeding from a wound on the fore-head, and quite insensible. Dr. Bryce was called but the gentleman was beyond the reach of human skill. The blow on the forchead is supposed to have killed him instantly. Mr. Sanderson was sixty-five years of age, and was well known in the neighborhood of Peterborough.

LITERARY NOTES.

ST. NICHOLAS for January contains sevoral notable features, pre-emment among which is the brief biographical sketch of Elizabeth Thompson Butler, written by her sister, which is accompanied by six illustrations from drawings made by the colebrated artist herself especially for St. Nicholas, her portrait, engraved from a photograph, and several groups from the great pleture, "The "Roll-call." Another very interesting article is that by H. H., entitled "A Chinese New Year's Day in Santa Barbara," which gives a vivid ac-count of this strange Mongolian celebration in an American town. There are the usual stories, sketches and papers finely illustrated, and admirably adapted for roung people. St. Nicholas grows brighter and better as it grows older, and carries pleasant instruction and sound entertainnent into thousands of households. We can cordially recommend it. See clubbing rates with THE Post.

HARPER'S MAGAZINE for January, from the frontispiece which is a masterly engraving from Rembrandt's celebrated porfrait of the Burgomaster to the last page of the Drawer, is a remarkably beautiful and interesting number. The opening artiels is the first of the long-expected series of papers by George If, Broughton, entitled "Artist Strolls in Holland," and Illustrated from drawings by theauthor and E. A. Abbey. A writer and an artist co-operate in a most interesting representation of "A Redwood Louging Camp"—full of pletures of the coast range of California, Col. Higginson continues his American history series, with a chapter entitled "The Old English Scamen," showing what the Ca-bots, Hawkins, Drake, Cavendish and Rateigh did for the maritime supremacy of England in America in the sixteenth century. Conrad Wilson contributes a paper on the possibilities of the American dairy. In fletion and poetry the number is unusually strong. The Easy Chair and the editorial departments are fuller than usual and are well sustained. Altogether Harton's anters the new year your creditable per's enters the new year very creditably and with ample promise that its program for the year will be fulfilled.

FRANK LESSIE'S POPULAR MONTHLY. The lanuary number is of remarkable excellence, and is in all respects what a magone Heid formerly an itchman at the azine ought to be; the articles are exceedo depot of the Grand Trunk, is now ingly interesting and instructive; the storles, sketches, etc., highly entertaining; the poems possess much merit, and the miscellany is most comprehensive. The War completified Herald says that at collary is most comprehensive. The War mof Mr. S. Ramney, last week, Mr. Cloud in Europe (fifteen illustrations); Ralandon threshed 400 bushels of chael (cight); Life in Old Florence (six); a Polynesian Kingdom (twenty-one); and a flar of Iron (with its nine illustrations) all by popular writers, and replete with interest and information. The fine serial, a Whited Sepulchre, is continued, and there arc short stories, sketches, adventures, etc., by T. M. Calder, A. M. Douglass, M. F. Aymay, Mrs. M. A. Denison, etc. William Penn and the Philadelphia Bi-Centennial and the Devil's Looking glass, claim par-ticular attention. Each number of this popular periodical contains 128 quarto pages, and over 100 illustrations, together with a beautiful colored plate frontispiece. "He Good Again," the title of the present one, is a gem. The price of a single copy is 25c; yearly subscription, $3, postpaid. Address Mrs. Frank Leslie, publisher, 53, 55 and 57 Park Place, New York.

THE JANUARY CENTURY. "A Look into Hawthorne's Workshop" is a most remarkable feature of the January Century, when we consider that the paper consists of the most interesting portions of Nathantel Hawthorne's own posthumous notes for a romance. The notes are published here for the first time. Professor Wallace also gives an estimate of "The Debt of Science to Darwin." The frontispiece of the number is a striking portraft of Darwin; views of Darwin's home and his study are also given. George W. Cable begins in this number his illustrated historical studies of Old New Orleans by answering the much saked question, "Who are the Creolest" Dr. Eggleston's second paper on colonial history is well illustrated. "The Planting of New England" is the striking title, and the Puritans are treated with keen insight and sympathy. Two practi-cal subjects, effectively treated and pro-fusely illustrated in this number, are "Hy-drantic Mining in California," by Taliesin Evans, and "Farming for Feathers," by E. Il fligger, who has studied ostrich farming in the Cape Colony. There are other interesting articles and sketches, and in fiction and poetry the magazine sustains its excellent reputation. "Topics of the Time" discusses the revolution in American Politics" and current subjects, and the other editorial departments are unusually full and interesting. See club rates with

THE JANUARY ATLANTIC IS one of the most brilliant numbers of this magazine ever issued. Several of the names which pears ago, and which gave the magazine immediate fame, reappear in this number. From Mr. Longfellow is given the first part, thirty five pages, of a dramatic poementified "Michael Angelo." The remaining parts of this norm will be other in the ing parts of this poem will be given in two succeeding numbers. The second in two succeeding numbers. The second instalment of Hawthorne's English romane, "The Ancestral Footstep," continues the interest excited by the portion given in the December number. Those who remember Dr. Helmes's inimitable Autocrat of the Breakfast Table" will welcome with peculiar sext "An After Breakfast Table," which by its freshness, originality and humor proves that Dr. Holmes is as brilliant now as when he became the Autocrate papers in

The admirable series of "Studies in the South" is concluded in this number. There are poems by Edith M. Thomas and Maurice Thompson, reviews of the latest books, and an interesting variety in the Contributors' Club, concluding a very noteworthy number of the Atlantic. s very noteworthy number of the Atlantic.

Shiloh's Consumption Cure This is beyond question the most successful cough medicine we have ever sold. A few doses invariably cure the worst cases of cough, croup and brenchitis, while its wonderful success in the cure of consumption is without a parallel in the history of medicine. Since its first discovery it has been sold on a guarantee, a test which no other medicine can stand. If you have a cough we earnestly ask you to try it. Price 10 cents, 30 cents and $1.
