Mr. and Afre. W. (outer: In view of the fact that you are going to remove from our midst, and the ties of friendship which have bound us together for the last seven years will soon be severei; we ask you to accept these articles as a slight evidence of the estoam and regard of your neighbors and friends. When you came among us you were almost entire strangers, but by your upright and consistent conduct you have won our confidence and affection, and we meet to night to express purappreciation of your many acts of kindness, sympathy and real usefulness. We believe that in parting with you we, as a neighborhood, are lossing obliging neighbors and true rigends, and that the church is hosting carnest, usoful and consistent members. And in parting it is our desire that in the home and neighborhood to which you are about to remove you may find warmer friends, more devoted and express christians than those with whom you have been associated in the past.
And may the Great Disposer of events so direct us that each may that a home with the bleased

AWOULLY SUDDEN DRATE, -An awfully sudden death occurred the other day at remark the Douglass house, Winnipeg. On the 4th of March an English lady named Catherine Ellen Grimes, accompanied by her son and daughter, arrived in that city. Her son left for the west to take up land. Mrs. Grimes and her daughter remained at the Douglass house. Being an accomplished musician she was requested to play a fav-orite air. When she reached the middle of the piece she paused, her hand droup d lifelessly on the keyboard, and she fell forward, drawing from the instrument the last sound she was doomed to make on earth. A dozen people sprang to her assistance as she lay stretched out on the carpet: a doctor was sent for, restoratives applied, and everything possible done to restore life. The daughter sat by her side on the floor, weeping and calling vainly on the mother to look on her. When the doctor arrived he pronounced the unfortunate lady dead. The deceased was in years of age and her daughter is 21. A HUGE MURDER CONSPIRACY. The case of Nugent and twelve other member: of the Armagh assassination society was called at the Belfast assizes.
