MIDLAND DISTRICT NOTES.

-A woman named Mrs. Brown, living near Tweed, dropped dead Sunday of heart disease. Deceased and her husband were the only persons in the house. -An employee of the cedar mill, Deseronto, was seriously injured by a slab while engaged oiling the machinery. Some hopes are entertained of his recoverey. -On Saturday afternoon while D. Macaulay, a blacksmith employed at Gilmour & Co's, mill, Trenton, was cutting a piece of iron, the end of the chisel broke off and struck him in the ere. The injury was so severe that the man was sent to Toronto for treatment Monday morning.

-The Madoc Review says that on Thursday night Mrs. Newells of Tudor had her husband. Francis Newells, arrested for shooting at her, the ball from the rifle grazing her cheek. He was put in the Madoc lockup but managed to break out before morning and escaped. Mrs. Newells did did not appear anxious to prosecute. -The Campbellford Herald says that the great force of the water of the Trent river broke the Perey boom near Frankford last Thursday morning, and the logs were carried down the stream to Trenton. A num-ber of Rathbun's men were despatched thither to "boom" the logs, and prevent them from going into the bay. -The Ensign says that Mrs. Hill, a former resident of Brighton, brought an action against the corporation for $2,000 damages by her falling in a hole in the sidewalk. The case was tried last week before Justice Armour at the Belleville assizes. Though the judge's charge was in favor of the corporation, the jury brought in a verdict of 3450 in favor of Mrs. Hill. The case will no doubt be appealed. -A raid is to be made in Kingston upon places where billiards, bagatelle and pool are popular amusements. Parents of many young men have complained to the police commissioners that their sons remained in these resorts all night, and that the spirit of gambling was being developed largely, notwithstanding the attack which has been made upon the city by the salvation army. An order has been issued that all saloons having tables for amusement.must be closed at 11 o'clock as the law demands. -On the evening of the 28th ultimo the the family of Mrs. Elias P. Smith, mother of Mr. J. D. Smith, formerly of Fenelon Falls, and of Mr. Seth S. Smith, barrister, of Port Hope, to the number of rifty assemled at her residence at Barrett's terrace, Port Hope, to do honor to her 80th birth-day. A grandchild, daughter of Mr. S. S. Smith, was christened at the same time by Dr. O'Meara. Mr. Sidney Smith, inspector of registrars, is a member of the family, which is highly esteemed by their numerous friends. -Henry Graham, of Uxbridge, arrived in Toronto on Saturday, en route to the west, but before he was there long he fell into bad company. He spent, he says, $12 in drinking and riding around in cabs with three strangers, who wound up by robbing him of $60. At six o'clock in the evening Detective Redburn and Policeman Sheehan arrested in a hotel on Front street west John Murphy, a laborer, and John Coats, a Grand Trunk engineer. These two men had been in Graham's company nearly all day, and they are supposed to be the guilty parties. Only three or four dollars were found on them, but Graham says they had no money when he met them. Graham got drunk again Sunday, and was himself taken to police headquarters.

—On Tuesday last in Lakefield, says the Peterboro Examiner, Peter McCauley and Richard Dwyer from near Warsaw, got into a dispute about a horse that McCauley had lent to Dwyer. As a result of the too free imbibition of whiskey the language used to each other was not of the choicest character. The men left Berubee's hotel. still wrangling, and went to Mason's across the way. Here while Dwyer stood inside the bar-room door, and McCauley just outside, they continued the dispute. The result was that McCauley, who was cutting some tobacco with a large jack-knife, struck Dwyer with the hand that held the knife. Dwyer immediately exclaimed that he was stabbed. His clothes were undone and a wound found on his right breast. He was attended by a medical man, who pronounced the wound to be the depth of the blade of the knife. He is in rather a critical condition. The stabbing is considered by bystanders as accidental.

The Brighton Ensign gives an amusing account of a run down by a G.T. R. train of a wedding party on Sunday last. Daniel Carey told a Brighton minister that he would have a matrimonial job for him on Sunday; but after thus "ordering the work" he changed his mind and started for Trenterior Sunday; but after thue "ordering the work" he changed his mind and started for Trenton to have it done. While crossing the railway track below Smithfield on the way thither, they were run into by a train. The pair were landed some distance from their vehicle but not very dangerously wounded. It is likely, however, that the wedding festivities will have to be postponed for a time until repairs are effected. The defeated, although not subdued, bridegroom was out looking sharply for a legal gentleman on Monday morning that he might enter an action against the railway company for damages in so unceremoniously
