He was told that the could not have a revolver and to be shown that the could not have a revolver. not have a revolver and to leave the pre-mises. Instead of doing so he picked up a large meat knife and he would have put an end to his life but for Mr. Griese who had a hard struggie with him. As it was he succeeded in making an ugly gash in his throat. He was handed over to the police authorities and locked up in the cells as an insane person. His friends who live in Sarnia were communicated with and his brother came here and took him away on Monday, paying all the expenses that the corporation had been put to. We are told that at Penetang he jumped off a boat and tried to drown himself. Instead of the authorities there placing him where he could do no harm they sent him on here.
