- The Whitby Chronicle comes smilingly to the front with a basket of strawberries of the Sharpless species, "several of which measure as much as six inches around." Our coten, wants to know "who can beat that?" They were grown by Mr. A. A. Post, county architect. On Sunday morning last Rev. Weston Jones preached a sermon to the Orange lodges of Lindsay, the True Blue lodges and the Sons of England. The different organizations met at their halls and marched in a body to St. Paul's church, where the discourse was delivered.

An exciting cricket match took place yes An exciting cricket match took place yes-torday at Lin ising between the Trinity college. "Rovers' and the Lindsay club, resulting in a victory for Lindsay by ten runs. The scoring was very small, owing to the admirable bowl-ing on both sides. Norley, the professional, played for the "Rovers."

The ratepayers of East Gwillimsbury have presented their township clerk with a valuable gold watch and chain as a mark of their appreciation of his services to the municipality during twenty-two years. We know several township clerks in this part of the country equally deserving stantar recognition.

-Those who were in the secret were aware of the intention of Commodore Rodden to provide a quantity of fireworks in anticipation of a tory victory. Probably the intention of the commodore was good enough only he was not afforded the facilities. Of course its a shame to spoil a fellow's plans, but private interests, etc. lev, J. S. Hunter of Toronto, one of the eleverest and most popular of Methodist ministers, and who is just now spending a vacation at Bobeaygeon, will preach, morning and evening, in the Methodist church on Sunday. August th. The announcement that the rev. gentleman will deliver a discourse will be sufficient to ensure a large congregation. Some one has sent per post to this office a sample strawberry. The berry quite filled the box and was certainly a very large one. The fruit being rather in a state of collapse we cannot, for the benefit of the Peterboro Review, give the exact dimensions. An unprejudiced estimate would say that one such berry would furnish about three dishes at the average church fair.

A portion of this community were under the impression for a day or two that something had gone wrong with the corporation watering cart or rather wagon. That useful vehicle was the object of much verbal abuse. During Monday Tusday loads of dust flew along Kent-st. Enquiry made to the contractor showed that he was not to blame. Some necessary repairs were being made to the framework supporting the wheels which drive the water-works pumps. It was thought well to do this at once rather than was thought well to do this at once rather than possibly be compelled to do the work further on perhaps during a dry season in August when the danger of fire occurring was much greater than now.

A convivial dance was indulged in by a social party at Hell's hall on Wednesday night. During the proceedings a point of difference came between two gentlemen. This was settled as gentlemen should settle-by a resort to arms. All hands crowded around-to see fair play—and the prospects for an exciting and interesting melce were good when Constable Smart dropped in. Being clothed with authority the combatants fled, one of them dashing down stairs so quickly that his red head looked—as an observer put it—like a comet on the homestretch. The feeling of the crowd was that "the thing should not be given away" so no arrests were made.

Peterboro is in need of two new watering arrests were made.

Peterboro is in need of two new watering carls, and tenders to supply the same are to be asked for. Our Lindsay men will note this offer and no doubt secure the contract as before. The last watering carf that Peterboro procured was made in Lindsay by Mr. James Hamilton and as the nunchine has served for over six years it is only reasonable that a fresh order should come back to the same maker. Of course the cart has been repaired from time to time, but such breakages were caused by the state of the streets, rough and irregular, not by any deficiency in the strength of the carf. In fact Mr. Hamilton might as well go ahead and build the carts, as he is sure of the contract in any event.

Mr. Hugelis the model mayor of the prov-any event.

Mr. Hugel is the model mayor of the province. We read in the News that "while visiting Toronto a few days ago, his worship was struck with the beauty of the latest style of white helmet hats. Ho was deeply impressed with the notion that they would look becoming on the heads of some of his friends in this stylish fown Imeening Port Hope.] So he forthwith purchased a dozen, kept one for himself, and presented the balance to those in town whom he considered would wear them with the greatest degree of dignity and cometiness." Mayor Hugel deserves a second and a third term. We commend the idea to our own worthy mayor. A number of white helmets already flourish in town as the result of a peculiar wager, and the mayor might even up a little by imitating Port Hope's mayor.

Ilope's mayor.

During the temperance campaign some years ago the Peterboro Review was strongly anti-Dunkin—conscientously so, no doubt—but anti-Dunkin. We hall a new departure by the Review as a tangible proof that that journal has seen the error of its ways and will hereafter wade in the straight and narrow flume of temperance. One of Tewks water-moters has been placed in the Review establishment to furnish motive power for driving presses, ruling machines, etc. The motor does its work well, over eight, horse-power being developed from a stream of water delivered through a three-inch pipe. The supply is taken from the local waterworks at a nominal pressure of 35 lbs. per square inch. The Review is one of the oldest and most progressive printing concerns in the province, and its adoption of water moter power is in keeping with the times. It is quite clear that "water, bright water," will supplent the moto of "measures, not men."

Many will no doubt feel disposed to have photographs colored in this way.

From enquiries made we believe that some further information in regard to the American anne Association will be of interest to many. The association is "American" in its widest sense, including Canada as well as the United States, having had an international character from the very commencement. Members from Peterborough and other localities in Canada several times attended the annual camp of the elected vice-commodore and commmodore. His invitation to the association to make stoney lake in this county its camping ground this August was accepted, and the arrangements for making their visit a success are being zealously hurried forward by the local committee. The program includes camping out at that beautiful lake from August 10th to 24th, a regatta and the annual business meeting. The fee for members is $2 for the first year and subsequently $1 annually. Members may be admitted by the executive committee, and their names may be sent to Mr. N. D. Beck, local secretary. Peterboro, or to Dr. A. C. Niede, secretary, Schuylerville. N. Y. The island chosen for the camping ground is private property and its use has been given to the A. C. The Orange lodges of Lindsay decided to celebrate the anniversary of the Boyne by joining in the demonstrations at Midland and Port Hope. The two lodges left by special trains, going north about eight o'clock a.m. The train, a long one, was crowded with excursionists taking advantage of the low rates. The train for Port Hope left the nnion station shortly before nine o'clock. Four coaches and ten seated flat cars comprised the accommodation. The local True Blue lodge went by this train to Port Hope. The members presented a most creditable appearance, the uniform being neat, fresh and not too striking—dark trousers, white shirt, cutfs, sush and laced cap. A large crowd thronged the train goin south, to be joined by reinforcements at points along the line. The lodges returned in the evening. Hope. The two lodges left by special trains,

THE CITY STORE SYNDICATE

The Great Question of the Times.

QUANTITY CONSISTENT WITH QUALITY.

THE QUANDARY EXPLAINED IN DRY GOODS.

The City Store is always alive to their customers in terest as well as their own and the two combined make it very interesting-realizing the benefits accruing to both buyer and seller from doing a large trade incites us to further efforts, renewed energy, and augmented enterprise in securing bargains for our patrons. The secret of giving the best bargains and selling good goods for less money than the same can be bought for elsewhere is in building up a large trade and creating a demand for our wares, thus making an outlet for goods bought in large quantities, which everybody admits is the most advantageous method of securing goods at first cost, thereby enabling us to sell to you retail at wholesale prices. No merchant no matter how wealthy he may be will invest his capital in goods he has no outlet for. This fact is conceded by every level headed calculating person. Then is it not reasonable that the store doing the largest business and having the greatest outlet for their goods can sell you proportionately cheaper than a house doing only one-fourth or one-half the trade. This, then, is the secret of the immense trade in dry goods, millinery, mantles, cloaks, dress making, carleaders and promoters of leading styles and lowest prices. | you.

LIKEWISE IN CLOTHING.

If the foregoing is sound logic for the economical in the various dry goods departments it applies with corral force in our tailoring and ready-made clothing departments. The outlet we have for cloths, tweeds, suiti. 23, coatings, etc., ordered and ready-made clothing is surveiently large to enable us to secure the goods on the vervbest terms and at the lowest possible prices. This combined with the fact that our ordered clothing is so elegently itted, scientifically cut, skilfully made, and finished with such exquisite taste secures at once a large outlet in the ordered clothing department. In the ready-made department we depend entirely on our own ability to buy close and sell close. We do not claim to make our own readymade clothing, we buy it ready made from the manufacturer on the best terms that large quantities can command and sell cheap. These and other facts combined have established an outlet in our clothing departments equalica by very few even in the large cities. In gent's furnish hats and caps, underwear, socks, umbrellas, shirts, colling ties, handkerchiefs, etc., we keep the largest range to choose from and if the outlet is any guarantee of low pets, and house furnishings, etc., at the City Store the prices you can depend on the City Store to fairly astenish
