The way in which we give you a chance to guess is this:—In my window are three glass fruit jars, numbered 1, 2 and 3, partly tilled with peas and beans. The following gentlemen—Messrs. F. C. TAYLOR, E. McTAVISH and J. KILLEN went with me to the store of Messrs. Spratt & Killen and purchased the jars, scooped up the beans and peas from a pile, sealed up the jars, and put their signatures on top of said jars, as can be seen. We offer for sale 250 WATCH CHAINS, RINGS and PINS, at $2.00 each. With the article we give you a chance to guess or figure out the problem of how many beans or peas there are in JAR No. 1. The party who comes nearest the number takes the $500.00 prize.

We also offer 136 CHAINS, SLEEVE BUTTONS and PINS for the sum of $1.00 each, giving the parties the chance of guessing the quantity in JAR No. 2, for the $272.00 prize.

We also offer 75 RINGS, CHAINS and PINS, at $1.00 each, giving you a chance at JAR and Prize No. 3. Anyone purchasing $5.00 worth of goods from me can have the privilege of guessing once at any of the three prizes.

On the FIRST DAY OF JULY all the Jars will be opened by the same gentlemen, and beans and peas counted. Those at a distance wishing to guess can do so, as the Jars are half-gallon truit jars, about two-thirds full. DIRECTIONS:—Put your name on a slip of paper, marking a number on the back of it. LACROSSE. - Our boys were at Beaverton last Friday playing. It was called a friendly game of lacrosse, or at least our boys expected it was to be that, but instead of being so it was what we might call a hammering game on the part of the home team. I think all the on-lookers were disgusted with the conduct of the home team. The game was just nicely started when two of them knocked one of our boys against a rail fence, rendering him senseless, and he was not able to play any more. The act was apologized for, but apologies The act was apologized for, but apologies are cheap. It is an easy thing to hit a person and then apologize for it. But notwithstanding the roughness of the home team our boys played on like men and took the third game, and the fourth game lasted one hour and a quarter, the home team playing with twelve men and Cannington with eleven men. It is a game we are interested in, and we do not like to we are interested in, and we do not like to see those that play it make heathens of themselves by their rough playing. At least our boys have decided to play as civilized ones should, even if it should hinder them from winning some games. It is remarked by all that our boys played the finest game, and considering their youth in the game, this only being their second season, we think they did remarkably well, and there is no doubt they will be a credit to the village, and before summer is over will be the victors in many games.
