DYNAMITE AT QUEBEC.

TWO EXPLOSIONS IN THE NEW PARLIAMENT BUILDINGS. Serious Damage Done—Extensive Destruction is the City No Clue to the Perpetrator—Four Mysterious Men—No Lives Lost.

QUBEC, October 11.—

About half-past twelve to-day an explosion took place in the new parliament buildings, now in course of construction. A large piece of the eastern side wall, together with a whole window on the second floor adjoining the entrance door on the north-east corner were blown bodily out, the stones being hurled quite a distance across the field. It being the dinner hour, all the workmen were fortunately away, and there was only one man slightly wounded, whose name is Metel, a joiner. He was sent to Dr. Jackson, who extracted a piece of stone half an inch in diameter from his neck, where other fragments still remain. The main building itself was shaken to its foundation, and numbers of windows on all four sides were shattered by the concussion. Some sashes were blown bodily out of place. The work is evidently that of dynamite, but whether the mischief was done deliberately or was the result of an accident or neglect does not so far appear. As, however, the contractors are not under explosives, it is reasonable to suppose the mischief was deliberately done but what object the perpetrator had in view is not very clear, unless it may have been to rent some personal spite against the contractors. Two joiners working on the building report having seen a small square box in the vicinity of where the explosion occurred, while another story is that the infernal machine was in a black leather bag covered over with stones. There is, at any rate, not a vestige of it remaining. The loss to the contractor will be serious, as the whole eastern gable is reported to be more or less shaken and will probably have to be taken down and rebuilt from the foundation.

A BOMB EXPLOSION.

Vast crowds of people flocked all afternoon toward the scene and hundreds were waiting all around the office, when at 2.15 p.m. a second but less noisy explosion occurred in the north-east corner of the same pile of buildings, shattering the masonry from the roof to the foundation, and driving the corner stones out of position. The injury to the structure in this instance was more serious than that caused by the first explosion. The damage is estimated at $20,000. The contractors have had no disagreement with any employees or applicants for work and cannot account for the motive of the crime.

DAMAGE CAUSED BY THE EXPLOSION.

The explosion yesterday afternoon did considerable damage to the windows in the vicinity of the structure here and also to other parts of the houses there. Almost all the windows in the upper corner of the structure are shattered. Great excitement prevailed and persons in the neighborhood were panic stricken. They hardly knew what had occurred. Many attributed it to a violent earthquake and hundreds gathered together on the city streets, and only when they saw fragments of the wall on the ground were they able to realize that it was a dynamite explosion. The only person injured was a joiner, who was struck by a small rock, a portion of the exploded wall. The contractor, Mr. Christie, suffered slight bruises on the hand. The damage by the first explosion is considerable. A BOMB ABOUT TWELVE FEET IN HEIGHT by five or six feet in width was blown out of the wall on the third story from the basement and directly over the right hand entrance to the assembly chamber, in the most eastern extremity of the building, and about thirty-five feet to the right of where the speaker's chair was situated. Several cross beams were broken into splinters and the walls on the other side cracked. Of course the Irish national element and O'Donovan Rossa's followers were the first to make the most of the public who visited the scene immediately after the accident, but all suspicions were dispelled from their minds after a little consideration, as it was seen they could have no motive in blowing up the empty portion of the house. At 11.30 the lieutenant-governor, Hon. Mr. Robertson and Mr. Flynn were on the scene, and had an interview with the contractor, Hon. Mr. Cartier and Messrs. Nantel, Desjardins, Richard and Asselin, members of parliament, were also present. Hon. Mr. Taitton was closeted about an hour with the judge of sessions. They had just finished their conference when the second explosion occurred on the north-eastern corner of the same building. The corner stones forming the supports of the building at this point, were badly bulged and it is doubtful whether they can be repaired without taking down the whole wall.

THE ONLY EVIDENCE.

That can be ascertained is that a trunk or wooden chest was seen lying in that portion of the building where the first explosion took place, resembling very much the sort of chest generally used by workmen, being about four feet long by two and a half feet wide, made of wood and painted blue. The chest was found in the hands of the men thought it had been put there with the knowledge of the contractor. It was moved several times during the night to make room for the men to proceed with the work. On the day placed by one of them at the window where the explosion occurred, but a few days previous to his going to dinner. The second explosion is believed to have been caused by some definite details learned till the investigation which is proceeding has been brought to a close. The affair has excited the most intense excitement. Thousands of persons visited the scene of the accident. The only conversation now is in reference to the motive, and persons are puzzling their heads as to the motive of the dynamite being placed there.

FOUR MYSTERIOUS MEN.

Mr. Lefebvre, accountant at the establishment of Messrs. Besoued & Chisne, saw four men leaving the new building late on Friday night, and it appears that only one policeman, instead of three, was on guard on the building that night. Consequently one of the others being required for attendance at the criminal court now sitting. Another man has come out. It appears that a woman in Point Levis, named Mrs. Cousture, who she heard of the explosion, said to some of her friends that she had four men who for a certain time whose conduct she found very suspicious. On the end of October four strangers went there to a board whose manner was most singular. One of the four rooms which they occupied was very empty. As most hours there were only three boarders, and the fourth was on guard until replaced by one of his companions. This lasted eight days. During the night the four used to meet in one of their rooms, and an animated conversation used to take place every day the same thing occurred. On Thursday when she made up the rooms Mrs. Cousture saw a small metal and carpet bag. She tried to move them a little, but was surprised when she found she could hardly stir them, they were so heavy. She then called about 17 inches long and weighed about 50 pounds. On the afternoon of the same day the four came to the house and enquired how much they owed for their board. They settled their account and told her they were coming to Quebec to take night trains to Montreal. A little later she saw them coming back. They were dressed in the same way as the first day. They started again, but this time they were going to Montreal. Since then they have been back. The authorities to-day visited the house and took the names of these individuals are the authors of the crime it is very hard to follow them up. They started on Friday about 8 p.m., crossing from Point Levis to Quebec by a long and would have arrived at the parliament building about seven o'clock. This story agrees with that of Mr. Lefebvre, of Messrs. Besoued & Chisne, who on Friday night about nine o'clock saw four men jumping from a window of the front part of the building occupying in the darkness. This was two hours before the explosion, and at that time they were seen to place their infernal machine, after which taking the train at 10 p.m., they would have reached Montreal at 6 o'clock on Saturday morning, and at the time the explosion occurred could have been in the United States.

LIFORD.

On the 11th inst. a man was killed by the sudden death of an old and venerable man, the death of this man, John Wilson, was due to a stroke of apoplexy. The deceased had been ill for several days, and was suffering from a severe attack of apoplexy. He was 80 years of age, and had been a member of the community in his old age.

A BIRD OF PREY.

Two weeks he raised nearly two hundred bushels of potatoes of a half an acre of ground, and was very successful. The old gentleman, who has lived at the risk of his life for many years, himself raised the water-cress in less than two days. It is a very successful venture and one that is worth trying to carry out. We would like to hear from you if you have any more news of this kind.
