ORILLIA. FIRE AT THE ASTLUM.—About midnight on Saturday fire broke out in the gas house of the Orillia asylum for idiots.
Only the roof was burnt, but for a time a panic prevailed among the inmates. Rebt.
Strathern, head carpenter, and J.J.Smith, a fireman, were badly injured while fighting the flames. An escape of gas while some repairs were being made caused the trouble.

CAUGHT AW EAGLE.—Richard Dinner and Waiker Sculthorp of Port Britain have been catching foxes lately, but last Friday night the bait that was set for the fox attracted an eagle. It is one of the finest specimens seen in these parts, it measured eight feet from tip to tip.

OBITUARY.—The Times records the death of another old citizen of Port Hope, in the person of the late William Sisson. He had, on Tuesday morning, 3rd inst., risen apparently as well as usual, but while dressing fell over in an apoplectic fit, and before a doctor could be procured he expired. Mr. Sisson was born in 1801, at Rhinbeck, Duchess County, New York. Mr. Sisson was with one exception the PORT HOPE.

RATHBURN. [Correspondence of The Post.]
BAD ROADS.—We are having very severe cold and stormy weather here. The roads in some places are badly drifted. No mails arrived at Rathburn on Monday owing to the storm.

Mr. Sisson was with one exception the oldest male settler resident in Port Hope, coming to the place in June, 1823. In his time he has seen three or four generations

CAMBRAY. (Correspondence of The Post.)
ARRIVED. – The salvation army made its debut on our streets on Friday evening of last week with its usual attachments of drum, tambourines and bugle. They paraded up one street and held a prayer meeting on the street corner, and then repaired to Mr. Cowieson's hall, which was fairly jammed. They report one conversion, we to Mr. Cowieson's hall, which was fairly jammed. They report one conversion, we believe, that of a young girl. Subsequent meetings have not been so successful in point of numbers, and in fact very few of the Cambray people strended at all. We imagine that it will take a little something beside drum heating and thumping on tambourines to attract our people unless we very much under estimate the good sense and judgment for which they have a reputation. It is certain that the army would have secured more respect had they would have secured more respect had they confined their drum bearing and bugling to week days, as we do not take very kindly to werk days, as we do not take very kindly to Sabbath desecration even under the pretended disguise of religion.

Revival Services.—The revival services are still being continued in the Methodist church here, and a glorious work is being done. At the time of writing eighty conversions have taken place, and the meetings show no signs of decreasing interest, for nearly two months the church has been filled nightly to nearly its utmost seating for hearly two months the church has been filled nightly to nearly its utmost seating capacity. May the good work go on until Cambray shall be as noted for the piety of its inhabitants as it was formerly for their indifference to anything pertaining to re-ligion.

PRESENTATION AND ADDRESS. - On the evening of the 4th inst. a large number of the members of St. Mary's congregation assembled at the residence of Mr. Michael Sisson, after enjoying themselves to the fullest extent, as all who are entertained in Mr. Sisson's house must do, and partaking of an elegant supper prepared by the ladies, the following address was read and Mr. John R. Sisson presented with a beautiful watch and guard, and also Miss Dot Sisson with a gold ring:—To John R. Sisson:—Dear Friend,—We, the members of St. Mary's congregation, recognising the valuable services you have in the past performed and are at present rendering us as our organist, have chosen the present occasion to express our appreciation of the same and to acknowledge the deep debt of gratitude we owe you for the untiring zeal with which you are ever laboring to promote the interest of that most important part of our divine service, the musical. We are aware that we possess but a very limited knowledge of the many inconveniences you are subjected to, and of the great amount of treuble and labor you have to undergo in performing your duty as organist, and we therefore pray that you will accept these imperfect and humble tokens of our appreciation of your services as coming from truly thankful and greatful hearts. We cannot but look with interest upon your career in life; your prosperity may be always full. We earnestly desire that you will accept the accompanying watch, not as any compensation for your services, but as a memento of the days you have spent with us, and as a tangible evidence of the esteem in which you are held by the members of St. Mary's congregation. And as it numbers life's flying moments may it remind you of that vast and glorious eternity to which we all are hurrying, and in which we hope to meet you with all our loved ones as we assemble in the great congregation with harps in our hands to sing the praises of our beloved Redeemer.—Signed on behalf of the congregation, Rosert Hannah.

REUBEN DEAN,

LIZZIE DEAN,

Rev. H. F. Burgess replied on behalf of the receiver in the following words:—Dear Hev. H. F. Burgess replied on behalf of the receiver in the following words:—Dear Friends,—I thank you for the valuable gitt which you have placed in my hand and for the kind words which accompany the same. You say that it is a slight memento for services rendered and for the spirit in which the same has been given; I can only say that I wish it had been in my power to have made the services more efficient; but I gave willingly and cheerfully what I could give—bearing in mind my duty to my God and his church. And if He has set His seal of approval, using you as the media, for conveying the same, I will be truly grateful. Time is short, and kind friends are few; and the precious moments of true fellowship are dear to us all. Once more, dear friends, allow me to thank you for this unexpected and highly prized gift as a token of your confidence for my services and kind wishes for myself.

The company remained for some time longer in perfect enjoyment, and then after taking leave of each other repaired to their respective homes highly pleased with the evening's proceedings.
