FOR HEADS FEET.

Millinery and Carpets.

From Millinery to Carpets may seem abrupt transition. Yet it's not so abrupt as it may seem. The one lends a grace and charm to the face, but the other is grateful to the eye and mighty comforting to the feet.

Let us first say our say about MILLINERY. Despite the somewhat backward season our trade is prospering. We push the department and find it pays to push it well. Look up our Millinery room and make your enquiries of there's

Our goods are just as new, just as fresh and just as attractive as at the comfrom the results of enterprise and skill. We bring in the goods, our customers buy them.

We've all the shapes. They are made up from the newest, most fashionable and most suitable materials in the most thorough manner, with the richest effect, with the most careful attention as to finish, and with a view to giving you the very best value for the very least money.

CARPETS.

We can hardly remember the time—and we've a fairly good memory—that our carpet department has offered so much of variety, real worth and beauty as it does at present and at small cost, too.

We have a fine range of qualities. A fine range of patterns. A fine range of makes, textures and values. A fine range in everything that makes a Carpet a Carpet worth having. We've Tapestry, Hall and Stair Carpet, completely ready to fill every want, large or small—a carpet for a Mansion, or a carpet for a Kitchen if you need it. And in all the largest, the richest, and best selected range of patterms we've ever offered.

Our prices for carpets are low. They could not well be lower. If you've any doubt and you need a carpet give us the opportunity to sell to you.

Our readers will notice the change that has been made in connection with the hardware business formerly carried on by Mr. J. W. Wetherup. Mr. W. F. Give them a Stand of Colors. [To the Editor of The Post.]

SIR,-I would suggest as a memento of the Midland at Batoche that the ladies of the town and county present the 15th battalion with a stand of colors, selecting a suitable metto to be inscribed thereon, as something tangible to remember the deeds of our citizen soldiers in the Northwest. Being a member of the volunteer force between the years 1866 and 1870 I have some knowledge of the pride we felt when marching with our stand of colors presented to the 35th batt., Simose Foresters, by the ladies of Barrie andvisinity, at a cost of nearly $500, with the motto "spectemur agendo"inscribed theron, a motto that every true citizen should feel a pride in marching under. Each battalion that the Midland are drafted from have the same privilege of having a banner with the words "Midland, Batoche, 1835," inscribed on it, with a suitable motto as well. Those who know how a stand of colors are prized by a regiment would at once say present our boys with one. Suitable colors can be had at from $50 upwards.
