MILLBROOK. SAD ACCIDENT. - Fred. Story, son of Mr. John Story of this place, employed as brakesman on the Midland, met with a very serious accident at Waubaushene on Monday by falling from a flat car. The car passed over the thigh, bruising it badly, but strangely not breaking the bone. He was brought to his home on Tuesday.

SURPRISE PARTY AND PRESENTATION .-One evening last week about forty members of the Methodist church assembled and took possession of the residence of Rev. J. C. Wilson, to whom the surp was ouite as overwhelming as if he had been sur-rounded by a horde of Indians. After the excitement had somewhat subsided Mrs. Wilson was presented with several valu-uable articles of domestic utility, as a token of the high esteem in which they are held by the congregation. Several gen-tlemen present made appropriate remarks, which were replied to by Mr. Wilson, whose good humor is always running over. The baskets which the ladies had brought were pext referred to and the contents passed round, Having dispelled hunger all sought to enjoy themselves, and judging by the time they departed must have done so in the highest degree.

DIPHTHERIA.—At the present time two young lade of this place are under treatment for diphtheria, Walter Morrison and Willie McDougail. The board of health is doing all in its power to prevent the spread of the disease, but they are not well assisted by the citizens, many of whom are very careless about tampering with fire. It sp-pears that young Morrison took the dis-ease from Malachi Campbell, with whom he came in contact presumably before the disease had been disinfected from the person of Campbell. We cannot too strongly urge the people to isolate all cases and only allow nurses and members of the infected family to attend the sick.—[Echo.

ROMANCE IN REAL LIFE.—There was more than a little ripple in police court circles on Tuesday when it was announced that this was to be the nuptial day with Lew Smith and Catherine Carson. The mere fact of the union was nothing in itself, but the circumstances leading to it lend more than the usual charm to such events, and border so close upon the romantic that they are of unusual interest. Lew's fair bride has been serving out a term on the hill for being too fond of the bowl that inebriates and was liberated today. Prior to her incarceration Lew Smith and Dave Pringle had vied with each ether in their attentions and the fair Catherine was naturally divided in her choice between two such distinguished men. Finally Dave's fidelity proved more attractive than Lew's eloquence and he won the promise. They celebrated the event and Catherine was sent up. As the time drew near for her release Dave grew joyful, but on Saturday he fell a prey to his old adversary and the police, and on Monday was given sixty days. Lew immediately grew hopeful, and as the woman was liberated on Tuesday he was on hand looking his best, and had no difficulty in winning her promise to share his joys and sorrows. After some difficulty a friend was found who loaned him $2, and they started in quest of a parson. When the discarded Dave was informed of the turn events had taken his grief was so great that he wept like a little child and refused to be comfatted Hatsillienses. taken his grief was so great that he wept like a little child and refused to be com-forted.—[Intelligencer.

THE EVANGELISTS.—(To the editor of The Post.)-The evangelists, W. P. Douglas and R. Telfer, are here with their gospel tent holding meetings every week day evening holding meetings every week day evening at 7.45, and on Sundays at 3 and 7.30 p. m. On Wednesday evening of last week they held a special meeting for the purpose of replying to some charges made against them by Mr. Duke, the Methodist preacher, at a meeting held by him in the church here on Thursday, the 18th ult. The meeting in the tent on Wednesday, 24th, was a large one, between 200 and 300 being present, quite a number of whom were those who have prefessed conversion at the meetings held by McClura and Douglass during ings held by McClure and Douglass during the year they have been in our neighbor-hood. Most of the serious charges (for there were some very worthless ones) made by Mr. Duke were mosterroneous and were therefore easily refuted. Mr. Douglas, who was the principal speaker. spoke at some length, proving all that he said from the scriptures, which he used plentifully during the evening, and, I think, to the minds of most present he refuted the charges made by Mr. Duke most conclusively. The interest manifested by all present was very great, and the attention given and the order kept reflects credit on those who atcoming harvest.

We understand they have bought quite a number of fat cattle and fat sheep was closed in the usual way. I might add in conclusion that to any unbiased mind the good work done by the evangelists in the surrounding neighborhood during the past twelve months that they have been in it is very evident. In each of the places in which they have held their meetings some have professed conversion, most of whom are giving evidence by their lives that they are "new creatures" in Christ, and it ill becomes anyone, and far less a professed servant of God, to try and hinder these men in the work God has called them to do, and it is to be hoped instead of opposing them that many will be found among the Lord's children, who will help them along by their prayers and attendance at the meetings. HAMBLETONIAN STOCK .- (To the editor of The Post.) - Will you permit in your valuable columns, so widely and beneficialy circulated, a little credit by way of fair play to this progressive north country of ours and specially to Victoria road. We notice that Mr. H. McKenzie of Port Perry advertises a standard bred roadster, stating that his is the only registered horse in this part of the country. It is not our desire to say aught against Mr. McKenzie's horse, we simply wish to state publicly at Victoria Road we have a standard-bred horse, Phii Rysdyke, No. 3584, fashionably bred, being from winners with strains of the best blood on this continent. Phil Rysdyk, a three-year old colt, owned by James McKey of Victoria Road, is from the great and famous bred of Hambletonian trotters. He was bred by J. P. Wiser, and purchased by Mr. McKee when less than three years old, and has been sired by Rysdyk, No. 653, he by Rysdyk's Hambletonian, No. 10; Phil's dam, Minnie Day, was by Green's Hambletonian, No. 158, who is a full brother to Volunteer, the great sire of trotters, his best being St. Julian, 2.11. Minnie has been driven but very little, being consigned the best blood on this continent. Phil Rysbeen driven but very little, being consigned been driven but very little, being consigned to the stud when three years old. She has been kept breeding, being considered desirable for that purpose by the best judges of horses. She has a natural turn of speed and can show a trial of 2.50 with a foal by her side. Minnie Day's daughters were also considered desirable breeders and have been a mad. Her daughter follows full. considered desirable breeders and have been so used. Her daughter Celine, full sister of Phill Rysdyk here, could and did show a trial of 2.32 at four years on Mr. Wiser's track; she was sold for $2,000 and put to breeding. Phill's grand dam, Old Kate, was one of the old time pacers, and had a record of 2.40. She was a decrease. had a record of 2.40. She was a descendant had a record of 2.40. She was a descendant of the Pilet tribe and proved herself standard by being the dam of Orient, 2.24; of Mary Clark, 2.28, as well as the dam of Minnie Day, which caused Minnie to be so highly prized as a brood mare. Her mother's pacing characteristic; her brother and sister, Orient and Mary Clark, whose speed, and winning turn was almost uncoolness and winning turn was almost unsurpassed, makes Minnie Day a member of one of the best families of trotters. Mr. Wiser sold Orient for $10,000 and pur Mary Clark into the stud. This brings Phil from a winning family on both sides. The drop of pacing that Kate gives him is highly prized, as Maud S, and Jay-Eye See have it, and if he does not trot or become the sire of trotters breeding is all bosh. We are glad, however, to see that Belmont Star, Mr. H. McKenzie's horse, is working star, mr. m. memenses norse, is working away from Toronto where raised, as Phill will no doubt work southwards and leave a large field in this part of the country.—

BUGGIES and WAGGONS.

L. O'Connor.

I want to make a plain statement to the farmers and horsemen of the country. I don't be I want to make a plain statement to the tarmers and norsemen of the country. I don't selieve that blowing does even a little good.

I am to-day the oldest, the best, and most experienced mechanic in the town of Lindsay in the carriage and waggon business. My work is known to be the best, and I have had many testimonials to that effect.

Come in and see the NEW MAGIC JUMP SEAT BUGGY. The best without exception Light and handy. It is as good as a two-seated buggy or carriage.

I have the best COIL SPRING Buggies; good Phætons; good plano box Buggies, and all other lines. lines.
I turn out the best Buggies of any made in the three counties. For material and work
