One does not need to be a millionaire to own a good watch in these times, and if you require one you might just as well get it now as wait until you lay up another $59,000. Watches were never lower in price, and NOW is the time to

There is a right and a wrong way to buy a watch. There are many who have tried the wrong way first, because it seemed the cheapest and most alluring. It is to buy from irrespensible parties, travelling "fakirs" and frauds, or from persons at a distance of whom you know nothing. You have no recourse if you are de-

The right way is to buy from an established firm, one that values its good name, and that will on that account deal with you fairly.

If you take the proper method, one transaction will suffice and you will be satisfied and happy. If you take the other it will certainly entail toss of money, time and temper.

Perhaps you want a watch now. If so, come Perhaps you want a waten now. It so, come and see what we have to offer. As we only sell goods of standard merit, we do not pretend to enter the competition, so far as prices are concerned, with "catalogue" men and itinerant pediars, and if you expect "a $125.00 gold watch for $30.00" (that's about the way they advertise) you will be disappointed, but if you invest $125.00 with us, you can rely on getting $125.00 value for it, and full value for your money is all any one should expect.

The business has for some time been carried on at Bethany, Ont. by Messrs Garnett & Galbraith, but is now handled by Garnett & Garnett, the present proprietors. A visit to their large factory at Bethany shows that the excellence of the manufactures is largely due to the very systematic process of manufacture and to the special tools which are used in forming and fluishing the tubs. The premises include the large central building where the machinery is located, a large drying kiln, extensive storerooms for material and stock in course of construction, cooper shop, planing mill, etc. Power is furnished by an excellent high speed steam engine built by Polson of Toronto. Many of the muchines and tools were built especially to order and show a very high degree of mechanical skill in designing them for purposes in view. The stock—any soft wood or elm—is out into lengths and sawed into staves by a hollow saw, giving the required curve to the stave. The staves are jointed, the tub then formed planed inside and outside, the bottom inserted and finished by machinery. The hoops that encircle the tubs are made by an ingenious machine. A brilliant idea has occurred to an east ward fowl fancier. He missed a chicken or two at intervals from his poultry house. Took the door off and put on a frame covered with wire netting. Over the door he hung a lot of old tine ware. A few nights after he was awakened by a tremendous clatter at the hen house and skipped around, but not in time to catch the inquisitive person who had been prowling around his property. On Tuesday Mr. Arthur Choate, the handsome and clever city reporter for the Daily Review of Peterboro, gave us a call. Mr. Choate came up incidentally to look at Lindsay and was agreeably pleased to find that the men do not carry meat-axes at their watch-chains and that the front street was not sprinkled by a lad with a garden watering pot. His mission was to report the interesting particulars of the expected anguinary game, Lindsay vs. Uxbridgs, but nothing so terrific happened. Mr. Choate was convinced that a Daily Post would pay in Lindsay and be a nice little journalistic venture. A Hearty Welcome The return last week of Rev. Dr. McTavish, pastor of St. Andrew's church, accompanied by his bride, was an interesting and gratifying event to the congregation, and they decided to take the earliest opportunity to greet their minister and extend a hearty welcome to Mrs. McTavish. Mr. S. A. everyone can find time to put in a few hours amusement at the point and witness the regatta. A very fine program of races has been arranged and will be faithfully carried out, including a sailing race for yachta, sailing races for open and decked cances, "Rob-Roy" cances, single and double paddling races, up-set and hurry-scurry races, a swimming contest. A prize has been donated by the bachelors of the club for a ladies race, and as there are a number of skillful paddlers among Lindsay young ladies, without taking into account Robcaygeon and Fenelon Falls, an interesting race may be looked for. Cancemen are looking forward to the regatta to give an opportunity of showing what cances of different models can de avainst each other under sail. Mr. E. H. A very full meeting of those interested in the project to put up a public fountain on Kent-st. young men from Lindsay who served in the Northwest campaign was held on Wednesday evening in the opera house. Mr. John Dobson occupied the chair, and among the members of the committee present were Messrs. Thos. Mc. Quade, reeve of Emily, and Charles Fairbairn, reeve of Verulam. The secretary was instructed to ask the government to refund the expenses of bringing "C" company to Lindsay from Port Hope. It was decided that a balance in the hands of the reception committee should be expended on a fountain, and it was suggested and approved of that when the fountain was completed the twenty-eight or thirty volunteers who were in "C" company should be called together and given a public dimner, at which the public generally should be afforded an opportunity to be present. It was decided to at once place all funds in the bank, to be paid over on the order of the chairman and secretary to any committee appointed in the future to carry out the fountain project. A resolution proposed by Mr. Chas. Fairbairn and seconded by Mr. McQuade that the members of "C" company should be presented with a medal or coin suitably inscribed, and that all funds be devoted to that purpose, was lost on a vote being taken. There has been some correspondence printed in the Peterboro and Toronto papers about the base ball match, Lindsay v. Peterboro, that did not come eff last Thursday. Manager Reeves and a Mr. Salebury of the Peterboro club have vented their indignation and were replied to for the Lindsay club. Mr. D. J. Scully of the Lindsay club has a well written reply in the Mail's sporting columns knocking the Peterboros out in fine style. A paragraph in The Poer explained the situation last week, and by this time the matter has dropped. It was certainly a vexatious thing that after the expenses of advertising the match had been incurred the game should not have come off. The Lindsay club could not replace their men who were disabled and rather than play a championship game with a scratch team declined to go. It will be in order for both clubs to bury the hatchet, and who rushes into print, get together and play as many games as they can find time to play, and use their opportunities for sport and not for disputation and brawling.....The Lindsay club will, we believe, be ready for a match in a few days.

—The base ball match which came off last Tuesday afternoon, Uxbridge vs. Lindsay, brought together about 350 persons among whom were quite a number of ladies. The game was called for two o'clock, and sharp on time the clubs took their respective positions, Uxbridge having won the toss sent Lindsay to the bat. J. McAdams took his stand at the plate for the home team to face the pitching of Gladstone, making a safe hit he reached first, stole second and third base nicely, and was let home by a strike from G. Little. This was the only run made in the insings. Uxbridge then went to the bat and made three runs by the careless fielding of the Lindsay boys. Lindsays second innings resulted in two runs, and Uxbridge in their second received their first "whitewash." Lindsay was "whitewashed" in their third and Uxbridge suffered the same fate in the 3rd, tin and 5th, making four "whitewashes" in succession, while Lindsay by good batting made eight in the 4th and five in the 5th. At the end of the game the scere was 5to 5 in lavor of Lindsay. Fellowing is the score by innheads:

Despite the hot weather Spratt & Killen are as ready to serve you as ever. The stock of Staple Groceries comprises everything that a first-class Grocery should keep.

We have some special lines of TEAS that are not beaten in value and price by any in the province. We can heartily recommend our Teas to give satisfaction.

We are selling SUGARS at the lowest retail prices going, and can offer capital value in all grades.
