LINDSAY, FRIDAY, OCT. 2, 1885.

From there we sailed for Dublin, landing on a Saturday night. On Sunday morning some of us had our first ride in

AN HUSII JAUNTING CAR. I need not stop to describe it, as I heard Mr. D. ask tag dr ver the price of one, like-ly he took one with him to Lindsay and you will see it for yourself. On Monday parted with Mr. D., he going to see Kilfarney and I remaining in Dublin to see Phonix Park and the castle. Phonix park is noted for its extent, covering an area of 1,700 acres. The chief spot of interest now for visitors is the place where Lord Frederick Cavendish and Mr. Burke were murdered. No monument marks the spot, other than two little hollows in the ground, where lay the heads of the vic-tims. Near by stands an Irish woman, who sells fruit and cakes, and keeps crosses of pebbles lying in the dust in the little hollows, and tells the visitor "that Burke's head by here and Cavendish's there, and it was a bad job for Ireland, that murther." From Dublin I went to Enniskillen, and stayed in that vicinity about a week making enquiries about the troubles of poar Ireland. I went around among the homes of both Roman Catholics push or en ergy neces say to develope its resources, so as to make it compete in the markets with the produce of other more enterpris ing nations remed at a less cost. A man in Canada who cuts his grain with a reaping hook and rakes his hay with a hand rake and then draws all into the barn on a twowheeled cart could not afford to sell at the same price as a man who took advantage of modern machinery to do his work. Such is a fair sample of the position of a majority of the poor farmers in Ireland INTERVIEW WITH AN IRISH FARMER. I went into a house one morning when the farmer and the hired man were at breakfast, and the substance of the con-was as follows. After getting a seat on the best clear in the house and on the most level pines of the stone floor, right in front of the terr side the proprietor began by telling in trat "I was as nice a gintleman as ever he had seen come from America' I had met him the previous evening) Then he said, "You would be a long time in America before you would see men sit-tin' down to a breakfast like this, a lok of spuds (potatoes) and a bowl of buttermilk." 'No," said I," if you were in America you would get mea t and butter three times a day and meat t sice at least." "Would I then? Och, so' I wish I was in it." "Why don't year come?" "Where would I get money enough to take all these childer? Sure, man, it takes all can scrape together to pay the rin: "" "How much rent do you pey?" "Nine pands barrin's shilling for eight series of load. An' if I'm one shillin' behind when pay day comes the agint will tell us if we'd ate less whate "Nine pounds barrin' a shilling flour and drink less tay we'd be able to pay one real. The I can tell him it's very little wheter are not we use or tay we drink ather. If we do have a bit of a baste or a pig to kill; har all to be sold to pay the rint, and er taste mate except when we buy a pour or the f American bacon. And ye have estroyed us intirely sendin' yer cattle over those America. Before that we sould no pretty well, but that has put the dh. his each on us." "But," said I, "if we and over cattle we send you over the cheat flour and corn meal." "Yes; I don' ow what we'd do if we hadn't the male draw on." And thusit was with all the mers I talked to. They are well pleased to et American corn meal and wheat flour i the country free of duty; but in the same brein they denounce the English government for allowing the cattle and the outter to come into England from America free of duy. Occasionally you will find farmer doing well, improving his farm, But the majority of the people seem to have lost heart, especially the Roman Cathlies. Irish and ators have made them bebegovernment, and so instead of putting their shoulder to the wheel of fortune and giving it a turn they sullenly brood over their croubles until they pity themselves and make them-lves believe that all their poverty is caused by the government, in-stead of seeing that it is largely the result of their own ignorance of the improved methods of farming and indolence in prose-methods of firming and indolence in prosecuting their work.

IN THE NORTH OF IRELAND.

From Eaniskillen I went to condondefry. The old walls still stand, not now around the city, as in the days of the siege; but the city around them, for at the present date there is more of the city without the walls than within. I waked round the old walls, saw Walker's monument and other places of interest, and then took the train for the Giant's Causeway. My impression of the causeway was that mature had gone to work to produce somefling won criui for Ireland, so that the visitor would have something to see on going there besides fields of polatoes and oats. Certainty it is wonderful to see thousands of tak columns of every dimension placed on their end by some grand upheaval of nature. But in order to be appreciated it must be seen, so I to be appreciated it must be seen, so I will not attempt further description. From Derry I sailed for Glasgow, but I will have Glasgow and my trip through the west-rn highlands and Edinburgh for my next letter.

OBT. - Still one more of our old neighbors has passed away from amongst us. On Saturday last Mr. Daniel Leonard passed away. Mr. Leonard had been ill for some time and yet his death was unexpected, as he was able to be up until about a week before his death. His renains were interred in the semetery at Uptergrove on the Monday following his demise. The friends of deceased have the sympathy of the entire community.
Correction. — Mrs. Mahoney was buried in the R. C. cemetery, not the B. C. cemetary as erroneously stated in last week's Post. ATHERLEY.

MYNTERIOUS DISAPPEARANCE.—A very strange and mysterious case of desertion occurred in this village some two months ago, in which a young man (a bisckemith by trade) got up in the night and secured some few things, such as a revolver, rifle, etc., and went away from home, leaving a wife and five or six children to take care of themselves as best they could. Now what seems to be the most mysterious (and mysterious it certainly is, for had it occurred in some places detective skill would have been employed to clear this matter up) is that no one has taken any trouble about the matter, which of itself casts a reflection on the place, for everyone speaks well of him. He has not been seen or heard of since his departure and grave rumors are on foot as to what his grave rumors are on foot as to what his fate has been, some going so far as to say that he was not fairly dealt with. Cannot something be done in the name of humanity to clear up this mystery and bring some peace of mind to his almost distracted relatives.

He was a stricken by noon she was cast a glo set on fire, although the dish was several feet distant from the point where the lightning entered the ground. The jar caused the cook stove which was in another part of the house, to fall down. Fortunately the inmates of the house were unhurt, but it is needless to say they received a severe shock.

Can be assigned for his committing the rath act. He was last seen by some members of the family about eleven clock, when he appeared to be in a sound state of mind. He was in his 51st year.

NEARLY POISONED.—On Sunday last Mr. Wells, the night operator at the G. T. R. station, by mistake took some oxalic acid for mineral water. Fortunately he discovreceived a severe shock.

I.OST IN THE BUSH.—Miss Brown, daughter of Mr. Brown of South Perry, got lost in the bush while going from her brotherin-law's, Mr. Chris. Harris, to her father's have on Friday night last and remained home on Friday night last and remained in the bush the whole of the night. She was found next morning, but her reason was affected and she is now in a very critical condition.

DIPHTHERIA of a fatal type is very pre-valent in Cardwell township, and a num-ber of the younger portion of the population are having a hard time. BRAVERY RECOGNIZED.—The young lad William George Hunt, son of the late Geo. Hunt, for saving the life of Kassuth, a young son of Mr. R. Scarlett's, in July last by jumping in the water at the bridge to the great risk of his own life, was presented this week with a handsomely engraved medal and clasp by the residents of Hunts-and Processonts, and heard them tell their grievane are that I might be able to judge for myseif whether or not they had a good reason to complain. Mr. Suthecland complained that owing to a certain culvert having been put in on the town line between Brock and thorah, con. 14, it had been a damage to them by leaving their land a receptacle for all the water drained off other lands, which flowed on their lot, and they had no means of letting the water off. Mr. McPhaden, seconded by Mr. Glendinning, moved that by appointed by this council to examine the said culvert on the road, regarding the the said culvert on the road, regarding the grievance, if any, on the part of Mr. Sutherland. Mr. Glendinning moved, seconded by Mr. McPhadden, that the council having heard the charge of Wm. Burgese in regard to Robert Shier having appropriated a certain amount of money received by the sale of a certain portion of timber cut from a pine tree which was on the road allowance, for his own use, this council do here ance, for his own use, this council do here with decide that the said Mr. Robert Shier do pay the sum of $1.25, said amount being half the amount received by the said Mr. Shier; furthermore that the said sum as now received from Mr. Shier be handed over to the road overseer of division 104 to be expended on the highways of said division.—Carried. Orders on the transcription were granted as follows: Robt. Tiffin, culvert on Scott town line, $8; Angus Mc-Mullan, 76 leads of gravel at 5c., and bal-ance for timber and culverts in Sunder-land, $16.50; Hart & Co., stationers, $1.99; Allan McLean, grading, etc., on 8th con-opposite lot 15, $15; Edward Edwards, for opposite lot 10, $15; Edward Edwards, for gravel furnished to the corporation, damage to crops on land, and mending gates for the year 1885, $23,25; and for sheep killed by dogs: James Innis, one sheep, $4; James Miller, three sheep, $14; Edward H. Purdy, one sheep and one lamb, $5.67; James Rovers for one sheep $25,50; James Rogers, for one sheep, $5.53, said amounts to be charged to the dog fund. Mr. Glendinning moved, seconded by Mr. Walker, that the sum of $10 be granted on the 9th con. opposite 23, for the purpose of deepening the creek across the road to level with the ditches on each side, and that Malcolm McPhadyen be commissioner to expend the same and make received.

The grounds for pressing the resignation were overwork, on account of ill health and the uncomfortable state of the manse, not thinking it would be safe to winter in it another season. During the discussion the presbytery expressed the high esteem in which he is held by all the members, and the deep re-gret at the lengthened illness through which he has passed. We are sure the same feeling will be entertained by all who know Mr. McDonald.
