HALL'S THEETS Hair Renewer.

Seldom dees a popular remedy win such a strong hold upon the public confidence as has HALL'S HAIR RENEWER. The cases in which it has accomplished a complete restoration of color to the hair, and vigorous health to the scalp, are innumerable.

Old people like it for its wonderful power to restere to their whitening locks their original color and beauty. Middle-aged people like is because it prevents them from getting bald, keeps dandruff away, and makes the hair grow thick and strong. Young ladies like it as a dressing because it gives the hair a beautiful glossy lustre, and enables them to dress it in whatever form they wish. Thus it is the favorite of all, and it has become so simply because it disappoints no one.

LINDSAY, FRIDAY, OCT. 23, 1885. FALL SHOWS. ELDON.

A fine Show at Woodville, (Hy our own Reporter.)

The annual Eldon fall fair was held at Woodville, on Friday, Oct. 9th, and was a very creditable success. The day being all that could be desired there was a large attendance. The gate receipts were considerably ahead of last year. The entries were not quite so numerous as last year, but the exhibits on the whole were of a superior quality. We think the management may feel justly proud of this year's business.

Probably Woodville has never seen such a fine display of horses. All classes were well represented. Noticeable, however, and road and carriage classes, which in our opinion could not be beaten anywhere; showing that breeders are paying more attention to this very important line, by only using the best stock horses and by careful mating. In the above classes the gets of "Young Extea" and "Carnwath" were the prize withers. In cattle there was not quite as large a display as we would like to have seen, although those that were shown were of superior quality. The prinwas the joung stock, both in draught using the best stock horses and by careful mating. In the above classes the gets of "Young Extra" and "Carn wath" were the prize whereas. In cattle there was not quite as large a display as we would like to have seen, although those that were shown were of superior quality. The principal exhibitors were J. Campbell, jr., Ross M. Markay, John McKay, and Thos. Rear & McKay, John McKay, and Thos. Rear it was remarked that our old pioneer breeders, Donald Jackson and D. Grant, had no representatives in any of the classes. In the short wool sheep there was considerable competition, the exhibitors being J. Campbell, jr., Ross & McKay and John McKay. In the long woolled sheep the competition was not so great, although the animals shown were of the first awality. D. Hawkins being the principal

Swine, in large and small breeds, were represented but in small numbers. All other lines were well represented. A list of the prize winners will be found Rascality.—On Friday night a person having the looks of a gentleman went into Mrs. Moore's dwelling, and on using unbecoming language, Miss Moore ordered him out; upon which he struck Miss M with a chair and knocked her down. The rescal instantly made off, but as he was seen by several and recognized as being a citisen of the soted town of B—6, steps are being taken to have him legally dealt with. The same person is charged with breaking Mrs Johnston's window a few minutes before by throwing a stone of four or five lbe through it, which had it struck Mrs J., who was sitting near by, might have caused a serious injury.

He had compared these with those sent to him by the clerk of the peace and found them as far as he compared them to be correct. After he compared them to be correct. Afterwards he found that there was a difference of eight names in the two lists, the greater number of names being on those sent by the clerk of the peace. Dr. Ford also stat-ed that he had left the ballot boxes in the attree of Mr. J. W. Flavelle subsequent to his counting the votes. The case was adjourned for one week, when some of the deputy returning officers will be examined. -Review-

APPLE PARING.—Summer is past and golden autumn is full upon us with its bounteous gifts. Generous, unselfish na ture is pouring into our laps her last offerture is pouring into our laps her last offerings, and is preparing to drop off to sleep and rest. It is at this time that the boys and girls on the farm enjoy the noisy frolic of the merry huskin' bee and meet to laugh and chaff at the apple parn'. It is now, as the poet says, they meet together round hearth-tones warm and bright, where the thair apples they lingar haif the night; and lassies with long parins' and cheeks as red as flame, toes them o'er their shoulders to apeil their lover's name. A capital parin' was held on the Scotch line this week. How is it there are so few of these beas? For what is life given it not to enjoy it. Pretty girls eyes were made to sparkle, cheeks to glow and lips to be kissed. And as for the latter, the boys were specially built by Divine Providence for that particular purpose. We have too much work, too much industry, too much grasping for money. Let us have more parins', more huskin' bees, and let the grasping be for the bright red ear that claims a glorious kies.

SURPRISE PARTY.—Some of the young lads of the village held a surprise party up at Mr. J. L. Reid's orchard Monday night. It is a fine young orchard of five acres, and is a nice place for a juvenile party when the circumstances are favorable. The circs were not just favorable on Monday night. The party did not stay more than three or four minutes. They did not pick up very many apples, but they picked up a power of experience for so short a time, and the way they picked up their heels in getting out was just a fright. They had just got to work making apple—asse when a gun exploded right in their minut. They were struck with terror for an instant, and then as quick as the fisch of the gun they all atruck for distant part. They lit out promisenously, going whatever way they happened to be heading for at the time. Master Read having got wing of the intended party was up there to receive his guests, and gave them a genuine surprise.—[Inde-

TO HIS FRIENDS AND PATRONS.

In bracing up for the fall and winter trade there are a few things that I would like to say The first is: Many thanks for the noble way in which you helped me through mountains of difficulties and encouraged me by your patronage, when I felt like giving up.

Now that we are comfortably quartered with a better stock, which is being added to almost every day, till we have in stock nearly every thing that you can write down in the English, don't forget that we promised to make Little Britain the cheapest corner in the moral vinyard. By your assistance we will do it or die at the lever.

It don't take a prophet to discern close times ahead. Buy carefully. Buy cheaply, Sell your stuff early. Pay up your little scores as far as the money will go. Settle up to a plum line. dnesday

If the money don't hold out, don't grudge the store keeper your paper. It will help him through and make him feel like doing his level best for you.

We have been very careful in buying our stock, so that we can sell as cheap, or a little cheaper than any man doing business in towns, as our expenses are not more than half the town

A carload of fine SALT just in and housed, so that you can get a clean, dry article, as nice as when it left the salt works.

A NEW DEPARTURE. We have built adjoining the store, a comfortable shed for customers' teams

It is needless to say that goods are cheap. Can't remember a time when a dollar would buy as much as just now. Call and see us. No trouble to show stock. We are rushing the Boot trade. A cord to be sold during the next month. Get a pair and keep your feet dry, and save a bottle of pine tar cordial.

Yours truly. W. H. POGUE. Little Britain.
